HARVARD COLLEGE

CLASS OF 1888

SECRETARY'S REPORT

No. 3

BOSTON, MASS.
THE EVERETT PRESS COMPANY
47 FRANKLIN STREET
1894

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2008 with funding from Microsoft Corporation

http://www.archive.org/details/n3secretarysre1888harvuoft

HARVARD COLLEGE.

CLASS OF '88.

SECRETARY'S REPORT,

No. 3.

1894.

34884 1
5. 4. 38.

BOSTON, MASS.:
THE EVERETT PRESS COMPANY.
47 FRANKLIN STREET.
1894.

Class Committee.

ARTHUR PIERCE BUTLER.
MARSHALL HILL CLYDE.
HERBERT DUDLEY HALE.

Class Secretary.

FRED BATES LUND.

To the Class of '88.

Classmates, —

I take pleasure in submitting to you the second triennial report. I wish to thank those members of the class who have responded promptly to my somewhat imperative requests for information, and especially those who have furnished me with information about other classmates from whom I have not been able to obtain personal letters.

The statistics with regard to marriage and children are as full as I was able to make them. When full information as to names and dates was not sent me, I have in some instances been unable to supply them.

The next report will be published in five years from this date.

Respectfully submitted,

F. B. Lund, Secretary.

Class of '88.

* An asterisk is used to indicate deceased members.

Walter Abbott
Charles Francis Adams, 2d
George Lockhart Allen
William Sylvester Allen
Copley Amory
Larz Anderson
James Waldingfield Appleton
Gaston Meares Ashe
James Walker Austin
James Alderson Bailey, Jr.
Franklin Greene Balch
Charles Handy Baldwin
Wilder Dwight Bancroft
William Barnes, Jr.
John Daniel Barry
Nathaniel Edward Bartlett
William Beals, Jr.
Joseph Irving Bennett
William Bayard de Billier
William Julian Albert Bliss
Edward Ludlam Blossom
Melvin Edward Boas
Maxime Bôcher
Charles Bohlen
Wilfred Bolster
Fordyce Huntington Bottum
Joseph Henry Bowen
Frederic Josiah Bradlee
Graham Hunting Brewer
George Atwood Brock
Causten Browne, Jr.
Thomas Quincy Brown, Jr.
Walter Franklin Brush
Myron Luther Bruuer
Cyril Herbert Burdett
Arthur Pierce Butler
Charles Mills Cabot
George Albert Carpenter
Percy Chase
Richard Percy Chittenden
Charles Francis Choate, Jr.
Asaph Churchill
Charles Worcester Clark*, 1891
Henry Martyn Clarke, Jr.
Marshall Bidwell Clarke
Frederic Percival Clement
Marshall Hill Clyde
Thomas Clyde, 3d
Stephen Russell Hurd Codman
Charles Northend Cogswell
George Proctor Cogswell
George Washington Cram
Kendall Fox Crocker
Alan Cuningham
Benjamin Franklin Curtis, Jr.
Francis Bryden Dana
John Dane
William Peck Daniels
Walter Dorsey Davidge, Jr.
Thomas Drummond Davidson
Chandler Davis
Frank Lincoln Dean
Franklin Henry Dewart
David Taggart Dickinson
Harrie Beekman Drake
Russell Duane
Carroll Everett Edson
Henry Edwards
John Rice Eldridge
Wendell Phillips Elkins
Carl Adolf Ewald
Frank Lewis Fales

Charles Ernest Farnum
Herbert Haviland Field
Grover Flint
Walter Greenwood Forsyth
William Everett Fowler
Carleton Shurtleff Francis
Charles Friend
Robert Higginson Fuller
Horace Howard Furness, Jr.
William Henry Furness, 3d
Herbert Elbridge Gale
William Wakefield Gale
James Ambrose Gallivan
William Joseph Gallivan
Lloyd McKim Garrison
Marshall John Gasquet
Arthur Park Gay
George Bruno de Gersdorff
Howard Beers Gibson
Henry Lathrop Gilbert
Clarence Willard Gleason
Sidney Gleason
Samuel Amory Goodhue
Josiah Ferdinand Gooding
Charles Haven Goodwin*, 1889
Ernest Barron Gordon
Perley William Graham
Charles Lamson Griffin
Herbert Dudley Hale
Edward Jewett Hall*, 1890
George Gilman Hall
Samuel Stickney Hall
James Mott Hallowell
Cosmond Rose Hammerslough
Phillip Melancthon Hammett
Horace Ware Hanson
James Francis Harlow
Edward Avery Harriman
Edward Bristol Harvey
Charles Hamant Harwood
Gustavus Hay, Jr.
Harry Edgar Hayes
William Pride Henderson
Homer Winthrop Hervey
Norman Francis Hesseltine
Albert Fairchild Holden
Daniel Curtis Holder, Jr.
Oscar Howe Holder
Robert Afton Holland, Jr.
Lockwood Honoré
Walter Gregg Horton
Edward Sturges Hosmer
Arthur Lincoln Howard
Arthur Cornelius Jackson
Herbert Keightley Job
Arthur Treadway Johnson
Charles Francis Kahnweiler*, 1892
Francis Demetrius Kalopothakés
Lindley Miller Keasbey
Frederick Keffer Kelham
Michael Edward Kelley
Ralph Averill Kellogg
Frederic Hedge Kennard
Edward Hamilton Kidder
Willard Robert Kimball
Francis Wallace Knowles
Perry Lawton
William Augustine Leahy
George Bridge Leighton
Robert Hamilton Leland
George Heydenfeldt Lent
Robert Coleman Le Roy
Leo Rich Lewis
Charles Jacob Livingood
James Loeb
Fred Bates Lund
Francis Ellas McCall*, 1890
John White McCammon*, 1892
Samuel Foster McCleary, Jr.*, 1892
Rowland Blennerhassett Mahany
Richard Clarke Manning, Jr.
Francis Skiddy Marden
Alexander Beckwith Marks
George Edward Marsh, Jr.
Edward Campbell Mason
Henry Lowell Mason
George Herbert Mead
Frederick Howard Means
William Stetson Merrill
Harry Fessenden Meserve

Harry Roberts Miles
Sidney Roby Miner
William Mitchell
Charles de Verd Musaus
William Nelson
William Kimball Norton
Peter Joseph O'Callaghan
Robert Lee Overton
Herman Page
Robert Treat Paine, Jr.
Bradley Webster Palmer
Haywood Mason Paul*, 1889
Frank Dixon Peale
Edward Allen Pease
Charles Henry Pennypacker
Valentine Mott Pierce
Edmund Platt
Frederic Plummer
Henry Merrihew Plummer
Henry Temple Pope
Charles Allen Porter
Edward Bigley Pratt
Henry Allston Pulsford
George Royal Pulsifer
William Henry Rand, Jr.
Albert Wood Rantoul
John Earle Reynolds
F. J. Reynolds
George Joseph Richards
Charles Butler Rogers
William Ropes
Edward Hosmer Savary
James Alfred Saxe
John Walter Saxe
Bernard Turner Schermerhorn
John Hunter Sedgwick
Thomas Taylor Seelye
John Merwine Selp
Charles Tilden Sempers
Jeremiah M. Shahan
Herman Thyng Shepard
Thomas Osborne Shepard
Ferdinand Shoninger*, 1893
Allen Thacher Simpkins
Chauncey Smith, Jr.
Edwin William Spalding
William Stuart Spaulding
Frederick Dudley Stetson
Edmund Channing Stowell
Lynde Sullivan
William Lawson Sumrall
Harold Swain
Solomon Louis Swarts
Edward Wyllys Taylor
Ezra Ripley Thayer
Lucian Skinner Thayer
William Goodrich Thompson
Harvey Parker Towle
Edward Warren Trull
George Edward Walter Ulrich*, 1892
Ralph Henry Van Deman
John William Henry Walden
Erwin Wardman
Henry Steele Wardner
Edward Ross Warren
Farrington Hasham Whipple
Walter Marinus Willett
Frank Backus Williams
Frank Beverly Williams
John Walter Wood, Jr.
Francis Call Woodman
William McMichael Woodworth
Julius Freiberg Workum

The following received the Degree of S.B.

Benjamin French Carpenter cum laude

James Ekin Allison
Frederick Ellsworth Austin
Frederic Moreau Backus
Thomas Jennings Bailey
Wakefield Baker
Henry Blanchard Barber
Alexander Robert Baum
Bernhard Berenson
Alexander Harvey Bill
Benjamin Leonard Boodry
Dwight Whitney Bowles
Albert Gallatin Broadhead
Henry Goodnow Bruce
Charles Carroll
Frederick Simon Cate
Henry Durant Cheever
Ernest Bernard Chenoweth
Charles Chollet
Frederic Clinton DeVeau
Philip Dexter
William Franklin Draper
Garritt Droppers
Sheldon Emery*, 1891
Charles Simpkins Fay
Herbert Melancthon Federhen, Jr.
Paul Foster Folsom
George Medory Foster
Henry Franc
John Milton Gitterman
Gustavus Adolphus Goebel
Daniel Paine Griswold
James Winslow Hall
Jonathan Eddy Hamblen
Harry May Hartshorn
Charles Sumner Hervey
Michael Joseph Holland
Charles Richardson Holman
Harry Homans
George Augustus Hopkins
John Byron Hussey
Charles Edwin Ingersoll
Fred Saville Jewett
Charles Redington Joy
Albert Lilienthal
Henry Jarvis Livermore
Milburn Love
Edward Sealy McFee
John Hitz Metzerott
Hugo Richard Meyer
Walter Louis Milliken
Josiah Beard Moore
Francis Lister Hawkes Noble
Rupert Norton
Nathan Oppenheim
Edward Warren Ordway
William Hicks Osgood*, 1888
Lincoln Rea Peabody
Francis Boies Penrose
Seth Clark Peterson
Norman Carter Phillips
George Totten Quinby
Franklin Remington
John Wallace Riddle
Frank Clinton Roby
Charles Joseph Rolfe
Henry Warren Sampson
Charles Brooks Saunderson*, 1888
William Bacon Scofield
George Martin Seelye
William Abner Simpson
Dan Louis Smith
William Kanan Smith
Daniel Kimball Snow
Edmund Samuel Spalding
Joseph Sampson Stevens
Harry Patterson Stow
Walter Gove Taylor
Eben Blanchard Thaxter
Isaac Rand Thomas
William Manning Van Heusen
Julius Ross Wakefield
Eugene Carroll Webster
William Hutchinson Weston
Joseph Swift Whistler
Nathan Howard Winslow

Note.— The first list includes those who received degrees, the second all others who were at any time members of the class.

Record of the Class.

WALTER ABBOTT

Is in business in New York City, with the firm of Abbott & Wheelock, 23 Cliff St. Went abroad in March, 1894, and expects to return in the summer.

CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS, 2d.

Since 1891 he has spent one year in the Harvard Law School, and one year in the law office of Sigourney Butler, Esq., in Boston. Since last fall he has been practicing law at the Exchange Building, 53 State St., Boston, as a partner in the firm of Bumpus, Trask, Simes & Adams. He is a councilman of the city of Quincy, Mass.

GEORGE LOCKHART ALLEN

Is in the stock and bond brokerage business at 252 Essex St., Salem. He is chairman of the Republican City Committee and a commissioner of the Sinking Fund of the city of Salem.

COPLEY AMORY

Writes:—"My business position consists mainly in carrying on a farm at Walpole, N. H. Since your last report my family has been increased by the birth of a boy on Oct. 25, 1893."

LARZ ANDERSON

Is secretary of the American Legation at London, England.

JAMES WALDINGFIELD APPLETON.

"Since the last report I have resided in New York, and have been in business with Robbins & Appleton."

GASTON MEARES ASHE.

"About a month ago, I was appointed Assistant District Attorney of the city and county of San Francisco, to serve under Wm. S. Barnes (Harvard '86). My life has been uneventful since the last class report, and would, I fear, be of small interest to my classmates."

JAMES WALKER AUSTIN

Is practicing law at 89 State St., Boston.

JAMES ALDERSON BAILEY, Jr.

"After completing the course and receiving my degrees at the Harvard Law School, I opened a law office in the Exchange Building, Boston, with our classmates Bolster and Dickinson, on July 1, 1891. My life, since that time, has been the usual uneventful life of a young lawyer, with a little politics thrown in. In addition to my regular law work, I have devoted considerable time to assisting Causten Browne, Esq., in preparing a new edition of 'Browne on the Statute of Frauds.' I have been chairman of the Republican Town Committee of Arlington for three years. In the fall of 1892 I helped manage the campaign of Congressman McCall against Hon. John F. Andrew. I spoke also a few times on the stump. In November, 1893, I was elected Representative in the Massachusetts Legislature from the towns of Arlington and Winchester. I was fortunate in being appointed on the Judiciary and Elections Committees. I am unmarried; and live quietly in Arlington."

FRANKLIN GREENE BALCH.

After finishing a two years' term of service on the Surgical House Staff of the Massachusetts Hospital, in February, 1893, he began the practice of medicine at 1 Marlborough St., Boston, as assistant to Dr. A. T. Cabot. He received, in November, the appointment as District Physician to the Boston Dispensary, and in April, 1894, was appointed surgeon to the Department of Diseases of the Genito-Urinary System, Boston Dispensary.

CHARLES HANDY BALDWIN.

On Sept. 10, 1891, married Miss Lillian King White, of Jamestown, N. Y. In June, 1892, became Assistant Attorney of the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago, and in June, 1893, was appointed Attorney for the same corporation. On Dec. 1, 1893, formed a law partnership with Mr. Hugh L. Burnham, under the firm name of Burnham & Baldwin, with offices in the Hartford Building, Chicago.

WILDER DWIGHT BANCROFT.

"During 1892 and 1893 I studied in Leipsic, Berlin, and Amsterdam. I took the degree of Ph.D. at Leipsic in the spring of 1892. This last winter I have been one of the assistants in chemistry at Harvard."

WILLIAM BARNES.

"I have pursued a consistent course of devotion to the principles of the Republican party during the trying years of defeat, and have conducted the business of our publishing company without deviation from the lines set out when, five years ago, I took up the management. In the spring of 1892 I was chosen by the delegates from this congressional district, in State convention, as a member of the Republican Committee of the State of New York, and was made at that time a member of the Executive Committee of that State Committee. I was re-elected by the delegates from this district at the last State convention, and remain a member of the State Executive Committee."

JOHN DANIEL BARRY.

"I became the assistant editor of The Forum in January, 1892. Resigned in April, 1893. I am now conducting a literary department in the New York Sunday Recorder. Since the fall of 1891 I have also been the New York correspondent of the Boston Literary World. Last fall I published 'The Princess Margarette' (The Geo. M. Allen Company), and last Sunday a novel of mine, 'A Daughter of Thespis,' began to run as a serial in the New York Sunday Tribune."

NATHANIEL EDWARD BARTLETT

Has been in business with his father at No. 28 Cornhill, in the firm of N. J. Bartlett & Company, Booksellers and Importers of English Books.

WILLIAM BEALS, Jr.

"Life goes on in about the same channels as when I last wrote. I have led a very quiet life and have not been honored with any appointments. Matrimony I have not yet considered. The class needs a few bachelors."

WILLIAM BAYARD De BILLIER

Has been in business since 1891 as a broker in the firm of De Billier & Company, 60 Wall St., New York City. Has joined the Naval Reserve Artillery of New York.

WILLIAM JULIAN ALBERT BLISS.

"At the last report I was, I believe, an instructor in electrical engineering at Johns Hopkins University, which position I held for the term of 1890-91. In the fall of 1891 I tried practical electricity, at nothing a month, as an apprentice in the Washington Electric Light Works, but as there was no prospect of a rise, and nothing worth rising to, I only stayed six weeks, and then tried the rôle of society butterfly, in Washington, for six weeks more. As this did not quite satisfy my restless spirit, I returned here and am still pursuing a very elusive Ph.D. in physics. I am obliged, for family reasons, to have my permanent abode not far from Baltimore or Washington, and as there is no opening for a practical engineer in the latter, and none that I could get hold of in the former, and as purely scientific work has always interested me more than the practical applications, I shall probably make my life work original research in physics; and it is for that that I am now preparing. I hoped to get my degree next June, but hardly expect to at present. I spend my summers at York Harbor, Me. Here I room at the A Δ Φ Fraternity House, and a pretty jolly place it is. Of other college societies I am a member of the Σ T K Club. Of outside societies I may mention the Washington and Maryland Harvard Clubs, Washington and Baltimore University Clubs, American Institute of Electrical Engineers, and Reform League of Baltimore."

EDWARD LUDLAM BLOSSOM.

"I have been engaged in the stock and grain commission business in Chicago since March, 1892. Am a member of the Chicago Board of Trade, and of several social organizations in the city and vicinity."

MELVIN EDWARD BOAS

Has not been heard from.

MAXIME BÔCHER.

"Let me begin by correcting a mistake which got into the last class report, probably through my negligence in writing to you. I did not spend the year 1888-89 in the Harvard Graduate School (except, indeed, as non-resident member, in which sense I was also in the school during the next two years), but having received the Harris Fellowship, sailed for Europe the day after Commencement, 1888. I stayed in Europe until August, 1891, holding a Parker Fellowship the last two years. I studied mathematics in Göttingen during this time, travelling to some extent, during the vacations, in Germany, Italy, France, Great Britain, Belgium, and Holland. On June 4, 1891, a prize was awarded by the Faculty of the University of Göttingen to my essay, 'Ueber die Reihenentwickelungen der Potentialtheorie,' which I afterwards used as my Dissertation for Ph.D., for which I passed the examination June 17, 1891. On July 21, 1891, I was married to Marie Niemann, of Göttingen. Since September, 1891, I have been instructor in mathematics in Harvard College, and since September, 1893, member of the Faculty. I have two children: Helen, born Aug. 23, 1892, and Esther, born Sept. 22, 1893. I spent the summer of 1893 in Europe, principally at Göttingen, working. During this winter I have been very busy, not only with college and annex work, which is more than sufficient, but also reading proofs of a book which is being published by Teubner (Leipsic), and which ought to appear before many months. I have published several papers and notes in various mathematical journals. I have recently been appointed assistant professor of mathematics at Harvard University for five years, beginning Sept. 1, 1894."

CHARLES BOHLEN

Writes, in March, 1894, from Tallahassee, Fla., that he has nothing of interest to contribute, and that he has not been engaged in any business. Is a member of the Philadelphia Club.

WILFRED BOLSTER.

"In response to your request for my partial autobiography, I have little to say — only that since graduation from the Harvard Law School, in June, 1891, I have neither held nor hankered after public office, but have been steadily practicing law at the above address (Exchange Building), with the above-named gentlemen (Bailey and Dickinson, '88), and also in Roxbury; and when I say that I have made a living out of that underpaid profession, I have also said that I am satisfied with the results. I suppose that all a lawyer can expect is to be a negative Abou Ben Adhem, and be written as one who has not despoiled his fellowmen. Married? Yes, Oct. 4, 1893, at Roxbury, to Jeanie T. Pond, by the Rev. Herman Page, of Fall River."

FORDYCE HUNTINGTON BOTTUM

Is practicing law at Milwaukee, Wis., as a member of the firm of Ogden, Hunter & Bottum.

JOSEPH HENRY BOWEN

Has remained, as bookkeeper, in business with his father, wholesale and retail coal dealer.

FREDERICK JOSIAH BRADLEE

Is in the real estate business with the firm of J. Murray Howe & Bradley, 28 State St., Boston. Has one son, F. J. Bradlee, Jr., born Dec. 20, 1892.

GRAHAM HUNTING BREWER.

"Since the last class report was issued I have been engaged in the same business, that of life insurance. As I have found no better company than the Washington Life Insurance Company of New York, I am still at work in its office at No. 21 Cortlandt St., New York City. On Jan. 19, 1892, I was appointed assistant to the president of the aforesaid company. My duties are varied and give me opportunities which otherwise I would not get. As opportunities are rare in every line of business these days, I consider myself most fortunate and my prospects for the future fairly good. On Apr. 28, 1892, I was married to Alice Humphrey, formerly of Albany, N. Y. I am a member of the Harvard Club, the Insurance Club, and the '88 Dining Club of New York, and the Tariff Reform Club of South Orange, N. J."

CAUSTEN BROWNE, Jr.,

Writes from the University Club, Salt Lake City, Utah :—"Soon after my return to Zion, from the festivities attendant on the first triennial dinner of '88, I was appointed Deputy County Clerk of Salt Lake County, which position I held until a political change necessitated my removal, in May, 1893. Since that time my 'public appointments,' and 'business positions' have been so varied and many that I will not burden you with them. I am neither engaged nor married; and with the low price of silver at this writing, the prospects for my remaining in a state of single blessedness are most excellent."

THOMAS QUINCY BROWN, Jr.

"In the latter part of 1891 returned from Chile, visiting the Spanish American Republics and the West on the way. Have since been in business in New York and Boston. Having been in Chile during her civil war, and in Washington during the crisis over the 'Baltimore' affair, with exceptional opportunities for going behind the scenes in both countries, I feel impelled to say a word on this much-misrepresented subject: That the United States not only gave her moral support to the enemies of liberty and representative government, but even infringed the laws of neutrality, can be proved by documentary evidence. One of these infringements probably caused the death of over two thousand men. While Chile was still disorganized, and popular feeling against Americans at white heat, one hundred and seventeen sailors were let loose in the streets of Valparaiso,— an unprecedented proceeding even in tranquil times. This, too, in spite of friendly warnings and protests, and in face of the fact that a German man-of-war's man had been killed in a street brawl two weeks before. Germany did not, however, threaten to 'wipe Chile off the face of the earth.' The trial of the rioters, slow though it seemed to impatient fire-eaters in Washington, was in reality being carried on with as much speed as ponderous Spanish legal machinery is capable of. Chile's position, meantime, was much like that of the bull in the favorite Spanish sport. Whenever the distracted Chilean bull showed signs of becoming submissive in the hands of his tormentors, our worthy picador in Santiago would hurl a fresh dart (over the refugee question) into its quivering flanks, while our naval officers shook the red scarf in its face. Even under these conditions the Chilean Government maintained its coolness and dignity (Matta letter excepted), while our executive, in spite of Blaine's efforts, joined with the newspaper men in a barbaric war-dance.

"In the autumn of 1892 I cruised from New York to Key West in a forty-foot yawl, making eleven out of the fifteen hundred miles (the crookedness of the coast creeks adds much to the actual distance) by the chain of canals, rivers, and sounds. At a comparatively small cost this inland waterway might be made continuous from New York to Key West. Passed the winter and spring in and about Biscayne Bay and the Florida Keys. The climate and natural attractions of this resort will doubtless make it, in the near future, one of the principal winter resorts of the East."

WALTER FRANKLIN BRUSH

Has lived in New York for the last three years. Has spent much of his time in a law office.

MYRON LUTHER BRUUER.

"After graduating I took a graduate course for one year at Harvard in 1889. Then I remained at home in Wilbraham for one year, until September of 1890, when I began to teach in Mr. C. F. Carpenter's private school for boys in Brooklyn. The next year was appointed principal of the high school in Salmon Falls, N. H., where I remained a year. After leaving there, I came here (Leicester, Mass.) and was appointed instructor of sciences in this academy, and have been here ever since. Am still unmarried, and enjoy a bachelor's existence."

CYRIL HERBERT BURDETT

Has not been heard from.

ARTHUR PIERCE BUTLER

In the fall of 1891 returned to Boston, and in 1893 went to Chicago to establish a branch of the Boston Woven Hose Company. During last winter his health suffered somewhat, owing to overwork, and this spring he has gone abroad for rest and recreation.

CHARLES MILLS CABOT.

"On Jan. 1, 1891, I became a member of the firm of Moors & Cabot, and a member of the Boston Stock Exchange. On Sept. 21, 1893, I married Miss C. E. Perkins, of Brookline. We now live at 374 Newbury St., Boston."

BENJAMIN FRENCH CARPENTER

Writes:—"My main efforts have been directed to saving what little of this world's goods the Carpenter family possess from the inroads made by the present Democratic administration and Mr. Wilson's Bill. In fact, on careful deliberation I consider the effects of the latter even more disastrous in its resulting wide-spread poverty than those formerly rendered me by Brine or J. F. Noera, further than which nothing can be said I am the junior and managing partner in the firm of Geo. A. Carpenter & Company, Jobbers of Marine and Railroad Supplies.

Our principal commodities are cordage, twines, and cotton duck, and while it can hardly be called a 'poetic calling,' it is not without interest of both varieties to me. I have to report that owing to circumstances over which I had no control, I went back on the gang last summer, and was married. I offer no excuses; I plead guilty. In passing sentence, pray temper justice with mercy. The lady who thus became an annex of the class of '88 was Miss Helen G. Fairbank. In closing, I will say that this is the only venture I made during 1893 which has turned out a success."

GEORGE ALBERT CARPENTER

Writes: — "I have been successful in my profession, providing one, in defining the word 'success,' takes into consideration the surrounding circumstances. I have work to do, both plenty and interesting, and my business is increasing all the time. I had an offer of the attorneyship of a trust company here in the city, with a very good salary attached, but declined for fear that in accepting the position I might get out of the line of general practice, and would not be able to build up a clientage of my own; besides, the association that I have already made is extremely pleasant, and I hope in a few years it will prove of advantage to me."

PERCY CHASE

Has been around the world since the last report. Since returning to America has been engaged in business with his father, Philip A. Chase, at 87 Milk St., Boston, as a dealer in investment securities.

HENRY DURANT CHEEVER.

"I am still here (New York) as manager of the Okonite Company, Limited. Public appointments don't seem to come my way."

RICHARD PERCY CHITTENDEN.

Not heard from.

CHARLES FRANCIS CHOATE

Is engaged in the practice of law at the Ames Building, Boston. Was married, June 15, 1892, to Louise Burnett, at Southboro, Mass. Has two children, — Joseph B. Choate and Chas. F. Choate, 3d., born May 3, 1893.

ASAPH CHURCHILL.

"I am still in the paper business with Carter, Rice & Company. I took a fishing trip in Quebec and Canada in the summer of 1892, and this last year, after doing the Fair for a few weeks, made a trip to North Dakota for the sake of having a little hunting in the 'Bad Lands' and a trial of the western life on the ranch."

HENRY MARTYN CLARKE, Jr.

Went to Europe last July. Expects to return in early summer.

MARSHALL BIDWELL CLARKE.

"I am still connected with the firm of Carter, Hughes & Kellogg, 96 Broadway, and 6 Wall St., New York. Since my last report my life has been singularly free from misfortune. I am not married, and was not mentioned in connection with a recent vacancy on the Supreme Court Bench. I was admitted to the New York bar in March, 1892. Following close on this, in April, I was personally named by the Governor as Notary Public at Large for all Manhattan Island. I will cheerfully take the acknowledgment of my classmates to all birth and marriage certificates at the lowest rates, consistent with wear and tear on seal. In June, 1891, I made a trip to Europe, visiting Belgium, Holland, Norway (North Cape), Russia, Germany, Austria, etc. (See map of Europe.)"

FREDERIC PERCIVAL CLEMENT.

"In August of 1891, after spending the summer in Michigan, I went to Chicago and became secretary and treasurer of the Chicago Electric Protective Association, a corporation formed for the purpose of protecting business houses, bonds, etc., from the skilful burglar. In November of this year I was married to Maud Morrison, of Elizabeth, N. J., and moved at once to Evanston, Ill., where we lived until the latter part of April, 1893. In the middle of April, not being satisfied with the outlook for my business, I sold my interest in the company, resigned my position, and came to Toledo, O. I was elected treasurer of the New York Syndicate, an oil company, in April, and took up my residence in Toledo, in May, of 1893. A daughter was born to us on July 31 of this year, who is, of course, the most wonderful child on Rockingham Ave. There are no other babies in the block. I am living quietly in Toledo, and would be delighted at any time to see any member of '88."

MARSHALL HILL CLYDE

Has been in business with W. P. Clyde & Company, 5 Bowling Green, New York City.

THOMAS CLYDE, 3D.

Has been in business with W. P. Clyde & Company, 5 Bowling Green, New York City.

STEPHEN RUSSELL HURD CODMAN

Is in business as an architect in Boston, with the firm of Wheelwright & Codman, Studio Building.

CHARLES NORTHEND COGSWELL

Has been in Paris studying architecture at the Ecole des Beaux Arts since last report. Returned to America in the latter part of November, 1893.

GEORGE PROCTOR COGSWELL.

"I missed the class dinner in 1891, by sailing for Europe the day after Class Day, to join my family, who were in Paris. I spent the next ten weeks in travelling through Switzerland, down the Rhine, through Holland and Belgium, and in London. Got back to Boston near the end of September, and in November received the appointment of House Physician on the Third Medical Service at the Boston City Hospital. Here I served in the Out Patient Department as Externe from January to July, 1892, at the same time finishing up my fourth year in the Medical School.

On the fourth of July began to reside at the hospital, as Junior to Carroll Edson, '88. In January, 1893, became Senior House Physician, with E. S. Abbott, '87, as my Junior. On the third of July finished my hospital experience, which I had enjoyed thoroughly, and sailed on the eighth for Paris. Here I saw my brother a short time, and after crossing the Channel, spent the next eight weeks in England, visiting several of the cathedral towns, and in the southern part of Scotland. Then came straight to Vienna, stopping only a short time in London, Paris, and Strasbourg. Stowell and Shepard of '88 were here when I arrived, as also Lothrop, Faulkner, and Hoover of '87. Goodale and Hodges of '89 came shortly afterward. My intention is to go to Berlin on or before the first of May, and I shall probably remain there until I start back to America, too late for this year's dinner, also. I applied for and obtained my degree of M.D., with an A.M. attached, at Commencement in 1893."

GEORGE WASHINGTON CRAM.

"For the past three years I have been in the office of Harvard College. In March, 1892, I was appointed Recorder, which position I now hold."

KENDALL FOX CROCKER.

"Since your last report I have still pursued gold-mining,— two years in California and the last year in Nova Scotia. It is a surprising fact to many that gold is found in Nova Scotia, and so generally. When the cost of handling ores is reduced to a California or Colorado basis, I know of no surer gamble than mining for the yellow metal in the Province of Nova Scotia. My life here has been uninteresting and intensely lonely, the greater portion of it being spent in a rocky, barren mining-camp, fifty miles from any railroad. My mine was in a place called Whiteburn, made up of six or seven shanties and three boarding-houses. Good food is scarce, the variety worse, the mainstay being poor tea without milk, molasses often answering for sugar. Good lamb should be plentiful in the spring, but the farmers are loath to kill until their lambs reach the age of mutton-hood."

ALAN CUNINGHAM

Was admitted to the bar at Wilmington, Del., in May, 1892. Appointed Deputy City Solictor from July, 1892, to July, 1893. Is now at Asheville, N. C., for his health.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN CURTIS.

"Since last report have been on the Boston Herald. Married Mary B. Mudge, at Lynn, June 23, 1891. In Europe that summer. Since return have lived at Wellesley Hills. Boy born Dec. 19, 1892, named Gordon Curtis."

FRANCIS BRYDEN DANA

Is a member of the Boston Stock Exchange. Was married, on June 1, 1892, to Florence Knight, of Boston. Has one son, Ralph Francis Dana, born Nov. 18, 1893.

JOHN DANE.

"In August, 1892, I entered the Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston as Externe and was there till May, 1893. On leaving the hospital I went to Chicago, and then, with Dr. Lovett, to England, to see the hospitals there. In August, 1893, I went into the office of Dr. R. W. Lovett, 379 Boylston St., Boston, as his assistant, where I have been since then. In June, 1892, I received A.M. M.D. from Harvard, and a part at Commencement which I subsequently published as 'A Study of Flat Foot.'"

WILLIAM PECK DANIELS

Is in business with the Mason & Hamlin Organ Company, in New York City.

WALTER DORSEY DAVIDGE

Has not been heard from.

THOMAS DRUMMOND DAVIDSON.

"I 'm not dead yet, and I don't know but that contains a good deal of my history since 1891, although I have enjoyed good health right straight along. In 1891-92, for about a year, I spent a good deal of time with my father when he was observing here every clear night to determine the variation of latitude of San Francisco. During this time the United States Government took two other series of observations with the same object, one at Washington and the other at Honolulu, while the German Government was similarly at work at Honolulu and in its own country. The investigation of this subject is of comparatively recent date, and chiefly interesting to astronomers only. Complete results from the office computations are not yet obtained, but the work done in this country, and the technical discussion of the question in this country, are going to put the United States pretty near the top, and maybe beat the continental countries. And during this time father and I, after fussing around a bit, hatched out a method, not of extreme accuracy, but accurate enough, of determining the irregularities in one turn of a micrometer screw, which method was used in the above work, and will probably help out the calculation of results. So far, so good. Then in the summer of 1892, I think it was, I ran between Tacoma, Wash., and Sitka, Alaska, carrying chronometers to connect Tacoma and Sitka as longitude stations to be used in the United States Boundary Survey between Alaska and the British possessions. I shook up the chronometers just about right, for I brought Mt. St. Elias into United States territory. By the way, I met Fargo, '88, on one of these trips. I tell you '88 men are scarce out in this country. Percy Chase and Brush are the only men I have seen in a long time. Here my story peters out. As this is not the kind of work I want to do, I am now in the Law School out here, and may get through before I die. I think I have run over the list of public appointments, business positions, marriages, and children."

CHANDLER DAVIS.

"I am still following civil engineering as a profession. I was appointed in the Department of Docks of New York toward the latter half of 1890, and am still in the employ of said department. During the fall and winter of 1892 I was obliged to go abroad for my health, and spent most of my time travelling in Italy and France. I am not married."

FRANK LINCOLN DEAN.

"Jan. 13, 1891, I was married to Mabel Houghton, of Worcester, Mass., and have continued living in that city. My political career consists of a two years' service as secretary of the Republican City Committee. I am engaged in the practice of the law, being associated with Frank P. Goulding."

DAVID TAGGART DICKINSON.

"I have lived in Cambridge, and practiced law in Boston during the last three years. In the fall of 1892 I was a Republican candidate for the Legislature, and was defeated. On Dec. 8, 1892, I was married to Carrie M. Story, of Manchester, N. H."

HARRY BEEKMAN DRAKE

Has made no report.

RUSSELL DUANE.

"I was admitted to the Philadelphia bar on June 11, 1891, since which time I have been engaged in the active practice of the law in Philadelphia and at Washington. In the spring of 1892 I spent considerable time in the latter city in the argument of the cases of the ships 'Aurora' and 'Ganges,' and of eleven other maritime cases, before the United States Court of Claims. The aggregate amount involved in these cases was about $500,000. In the winter of 1891-92 I published, in one of the monthly magazines, an article on the pending dispute between England and the United States over the seal fisheries of Behring Sea. A copy of this article happened to come into the possession of President Harrison, who sent it to the State Department, and on May 12, 1892, I received from the Hon. James G. Blaine, then Secretary of State, an appointment as Junior Council for the United States, to assist in the preparation of the briefs to be submitted to the Behring Sea arbitrators at Paris. I devoted several months to this work, performing part of it at Washington and the remainder at Philadelphia, and attending from time to time meetings between the different counsel for the government in New York City. For the last year and a half I have been occupied in the practice of the law in the Drexel Building in the city of Philadelphia. During that time I have acted as attorney and also as trustee for several large estates. I was one of the four counsel representing the heirs of Dr. Benjamin Franklin in the legal proceedings which were instituted relative to certain trust funds bequeathed by him to the cities of Boston and Philadelphia, and now amounting to over $450.000; and I was one of the counsel who argued this case before the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. I have also been counsel in a number of large equity suits. For the past year I have devoted the greater part of my time to corporation practice. I have recently visited Europe twice, and on one of these occasions I spent considerable time in France in the performance of legal work for a large estate in the city of Philadelphia. I have also at different times published a number of magazine articles on various legal subjects. In other respects than those above mentioned, my life has been uneventful."

CARROLL EVERETT EDSON.

"Since the last report there has been but little in my career of any great interest to others than myself. I was House Physician at the Boston City Hospital from July 1, 1891, to Jan. 1. 1893, serving as Junior to H. P. Towle, '88, and as Senior to G. P. Cogswell, '88. I received my degrees of A.M. and M.D. from Harvard in June, 1892, my thesis on insomnia being given honorable mention on the Commencement programme. After leaving the hospital I began the practice of medicine at my home in Roxbury. In March, 1893, I went abroad and spent three months very pleasantly in Italy, France, and England. Besides the usual traveller's points of interest, I was fortunate in being able to see a good deal of the working of the various large hospitals, especially the English. I spent a week each in Oxford and Cambridge, during term time, and made a most pleasant acquaintance with English University life, — in Oxford seeing especially the undergraduate life and in Cambridge that of the Fellows and Masters. In Cambridge, I was most cordially entertained at Emmanuel College, whose Master and Fellows are always ready to welcome any Harvard man who makes them a pilgrimage. I returned home at the end of June, and have since been actively engaged in my profession. I am the assistant editor of the Boston Medical and Surgical Journal, and in May, 1894, was appointed Visiting Physician to St. Mary's Orphan Asylum and Maternity Hospital. I am a member of the Massachusetts Medical Society and of the University Club of Boston. I am unmarried."

HENRY EDWARDS

Has not been heard from.

JOHN RICE ELDRIDGE.

"The first two years after coming to this State I was engaged in teaching. At present I am pursuing the study of medicine in San Francisco, and hope to take my degree in a few months."

WENDELL PHILLIPS ELKINS

Is a third-year student at the Harvard Divinity School.

CARL ADOLPH EWALD.

"I have received no public appointments, hold no business position, beyond being a partner with my three brothers in a small shoe manufacturing business in New Jersey, and am not married. I am a fourth-year student in the Harvard Medical School, from which I hope to graduate in June." Published in Journal of Physiology (1892), "The Influence of Light on the Gas-Exchange in Animal Tissues."

FRANK LEWIS FALES

Has not been heard from.

CHARLES ERNEST FARNUM

Has not been heard from.

HERBERT HAVILAND FIELD

Is studying natural science in Paris.

GROVER FLINT.

After graduation, Flint spent a year in the Architectural Department of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology; a year in Spain, where he became a proficient linguist and enjoyed unusual opportunities of seeing Spanish high life. He travelled in Africa, Germany, and Italy, and finally established himself in Paris as art editor of the Paris Edition of the New York Herald, illustrating his own articles. In the summer of 1891 he returned to America and entered the Graduate Department of Harvard University, and remained there for a year. In August, 1892, he entered the United States Army as an enlisted man, in the First United States Dragoons, formerly commanded by his father. He has for some time past been stationed at Fort Bayard, N. M., and with the exception of an attack of mountain fever, has enjoyed the life.

WALTER GREENWOOD FORSYTH.

"The first three years were spent in business in Providence, R. I., and at Boston, Mass. The last position I held was in the Archive Department of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, at Boston. This department I started myself, and remained at its head until I left the company. In the summer of 1891, having decided, for various reasons, to give up a business career, I took advantage of a temporary illness, resigned my position, and took a short rest. In the autumn of 1891 I connected myself with the New York State Library in Albany, N. Y., and have since taken the two years' course there provided for the training of librarians. My positions since then have been temporary ones, but very pleasant. Last summer, from June to October, I spent at Albany, arranging the valuable private library of Mr. J. V. L. Pruyn, and preparing both a card and printed catalogue. I next went to the Free Public Library at Worcester, Mass., where I spent about two months, arranging, cataloguing, and annotating a collection of Braun photographs. I am now back at Albany again, arranging and cataloguing the private library of Bishop Doane. These things, with a short trip to the World's Fair, are about all that it seems worth while to mention."

WILLIAM EVERETT FOWLER.

"They say that nations have no history, as long as they are at peace, prosperous and happy, and I suppose the same thing is true of individuals, as well. At any rate, my life since 1891 has been very quiet and peaceful, and not at all filled with 'things of big import.' I read law in the office of the Hon. Henry L. Parker, of Worcester, Mass., for about three years, until last November, when I was admitted to the bar there. It follows that my forensic experience has been extremely limited. I have received no appointments to public office, nor filled any business positions. I have not married, so of course all questions as to children are estopped. During all this time, I have remained in and about Worcester, with the two exceptions of two vacation trips, — through the Maritime Provinces in the fall of 1892 and to the World's Fair in 1893."

CARLETON SHURTLEFF FRANCIS.

"Finished the regular three years' course at the Harvard Medical School. I began the studies of the fourth year, but left the school in the middle of January, 1892, to fill the position of House Officer at the Worcester City Hospital. Passed the examination, and became a member of the Massachusetts Medical Society in the autumn of 1891. In March, 1893, I took a trip to Europe; spent some time on the Continent and British Isles. I entered the Rotunda Hospital, Dublin, and spent two months there as interne pupil. I have now settled down in Brookline as a general practitioner."

CHARLES FRIEND.

"The only facts of interest that I can give are my attendance at Harvard Law School during academic years 1890-91 and 1891-92; graduated in June, 1892, receiving degrees of LL.B. cum laude and A.M., Harvard. Applied for admission to the bar of the State of Wisconsin in August, 1892, and passed the examinations, so I was admitted in the fall of 1892 and began to practice law in this city, independently, at once."

ROBERT HIGGINSON FULLER

Writes from the Editorial Department of the Albany Evening Journal:— "The account in the last report will do again. Albany moves slowly."

HORACE HOWARD FURNESS

Writes:— "I am now instructor in physics at the Episcopal Academy in Philadelphia."

WILLIAM HENRY FURNESS, 3D.

"I have been Resident Physician in the University Hospital during the winter and spring of 1892. The summer of 1892 I spent in Europe, travelling about, and in the autumn I assisted Dr. J. Wm. White of this city in compiling the Section on Syphilis in 'Sajou's Annual' of The Medical Sciences. The month of January of 1893 I spent at Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, having been regularly appointed for one year, but resigned at the end of a month with the idea of going abroad to study bacteriology and surgery. After remaining in this city for two months' studying bacteriology at the University of Pennsylvania, I took charge of a case on a trip to Japan, sailing from San Francisco on May 4, 1893, touching at Honolulu, May 11, and arriving at Yokohama, May 23. We travelled leisurely through the country, visiting Tokyo, the hot springs of Myanoshita, where we rented a house and lived in Japanese style for a month; then we travelled down the east coast, stopping at Nagoya, Shizuoka, Kyoto, Osaka, and Kobe, then returned to Yokohama, and from there we went to Nikko, in the more northern part, and set sail for home burdened with nineteen large packing-cases of curios, five dogs, and tattooed artistically down to the waist by the famous tattooer, Hori Clinjo. As soon as I got home I again set to work at the Section on Syphilis for 'Sajou's Annual' for 1893, and at the same time attended the Venereal Dispensary of the University Hospital, where I hold the position of assistant to the Dispensary. I have not opened an office, but intend to make a study of syphilography and venereal diseases, and am at present studying the bacteriology of affections of the genito-urinary tract at the Hygienic Laboratory of the University of Pennsylvania."

HERBERT ELBRIDGE GALE.

"I am in the shoe manufacturing business, as I have been since leaving college, with factories at Haverhill and office in Boston. Married at Clifton, Mass., Sept. 29, 1892, to Martha Pollard, daughter of M. S. P. Pollard, of Beacon St., Brookline. Children: one boy."

WILLIAM WAKEFIELD GALE

Is still teacher of Greek in Smith Academy, Washington University, St. Louis, Mo. Has one child, Eleanor Edwards, born Oct. 30, 1891. Spent the summer of 1892 in Europe.

JAMES AMBROSE GALLIVAN.

"I still continue to peg away at newspaper work, and occasionally contribute to the magazines. Politics and politicians furnish occasional diversion from the monotonous routine of the daily life of a penny-a-liner. At the last two Democratic State conventions I have officiated as one of the two secretaries, and last fall I was the unsuccessful Democratic candidate for the Legislature. Have been heard on the stump occasionally for Democratic men and measures. Have received no public appointments, no offers of marriage, no legacies, and as yet have neglected to apply for a pension."

WILLIAM JOSEPH GALLIVAN.

"I have been really very busy. My life up to graduation from college you have. Since then I have graduated from Harvard Medical School. Am now located in South Boston, corner of L St. and Broadway. Since June, 1888, I have filled the position of Permit Clerk in the United States Custom House. During the years 1891-92 I was chief clerk of Architect Department, City Hall, Boston. Both positions were obtained under Civil Service rules. At the Medical School I was a member of the Boylston Medical Club; I am now a member of the Massachusetts Medical Society."

LLOYD McKIM GARRISON.

"After graduating from the Law School, in 1891, I entered the law office of Charles W. Gould, 2 Wall St., New York, where I have since remained, having been admitted to the New York bar in April, 1892. In July, 1892, Mr. Gould, Mr. John L. Wilkie (Harv. L. S. '87), and I formed a partnership firm, under the name of Gould & Wilkie. I have held no public position, though I have continued to take some part in politics. In November, 1891, I worked with the City Reform Club, of New York, in securing the indictment and conviction of two violators of the election laws regarding the sale of liquor near polling places. In the national campaign of 1892 I spoke several times, and had the privilege of accompanying Governor Russell on his famous tour through Cape Cod. During the next campaign in this State, I was one of the Executive Committee of the Committee of Fifty of the New York Bar Association, formed to oppose Isaac H. Maynard's election to the Court of Appeals. After the election I was appointed one of a committee of the Bar Association to prosecute election offenders. I am glad to say our committee obtained fifty-three indictments against Tammany heelers, of whom three have already gone to Sing Sing, and the rest are awaiting trial. Since 1891 I have published the following: 'Foreign Corporations and Local Restrictions' (privately printed, New York, 1893), in collaboration with Charles W. Gould, Esq., and a pamphlet, 'Governor Russell and His Canvass of Cape Cod' (privately printed, New York, 1893). I have been treasurer and secretary of the '88 Dining Club of New York for two years past. This is my proudest title. It stands to reason that I am unmarried."

MARSHALL JOHN GASQUET

Writes from New Orleans, La.: — "Graduated at the Tulane Law School at the University of Tulane, New Orleans, La., in 1890. In 1892 was appointed Assistant City Attorney, which position I shall hold till the expiration of 1894. In 1893 became one of the founders of the Harvard Alumni Club of Louisiana."

ARTHUR PARK GAY.

"I have no very notable events to record of my life during the last three years. During the last two years of my course in the Boston University School of Medicine I gave some instruction to the lower classes, and in the last year there I was appointed one of the editors of the Medical Student, a monthly magazine published by the students of the school. I received the degree of M.D. from Boston University in June, 1893. Later I was appointed instructor in medical physics in the Medical School of the same university. In the autumn of 1893, after a summer of apathy in regard to the World's Fair, I suddenly developed an enthusiasm which posted me off at forty-eight hours' notice on my first trip west of New England. Besides Chicago and the White City I saw also on this trip Niagara Falls and the National Capital for the first time. On account of poor health I have not yet begun active practice in my profession, the duties of instruction being all the occupation my strength the past winter has allowed. I have not married."

GEORGE BRUNO De GERSDORFF

Has not been heard from.

HOWARD BEERS GIBSON.

"I went to Germany in June, 1891, and studed at Leipsic for a year, taking my degree in 1892. Bancroft was in Leipsic at the same time and came up just a couple of weeks ahead of me. Of course I had the best kind of a time of it, and even now occasionally wish for a glimpse of the Fatherland — especially when I get thirsty. I was married in April, 1892, to Marie V. Doupé, of New York, in London; and as a result of this most fortunate event I am out two bottles of extra dry to a classmate, and am the father of a ten months' old boy. The name of the young man is Livingston Beers. Mrs. Gibson and I came back to America in the summer of 1892, and since the fall of the same year we have been here at Middletown. I have been at work most of the time since then on the chemistry of foods and nutrition, etc., for the United States Bureau of Labor and Department of Agriculture, but have no direct connection with them. I don't consider my work here as at all permanent, and am prospecting all the time for a teaching position, where I will get a chance to work on my own account. The only appointment with which I have been overwhelmed, and I trust to survive the honor if my back salary is paid up, was that of a judge at the World's Fair. It was a very pleasant way of seeing the Exposition, but my time was pretty well taken up with my work, as I had partial charge of the analysis of specimens from the various food exhibits, and running a laboratory with half a score of men is not without its drawbacks, especially in hot weather."

April 6, he writes: — "Since writing you last I have had the good luck to be elected to the chair of chemistry in the University of the State of Missouri, at Columbia, Mo. I don't know so very much about the institution, but it has the reputation of being one of the best of its class and is well endowed and supported. The appointment takes effect at the beginning of the next college year, and I am looking forward to teaching with a good deal of satisfaction, and shall, of course, try to find some time for research work."

HENRY LATHROP GILBERT.

"Since the last report, most of my time has been spent in New York. I remained in New York in a bank until the spring of 1893, when I left New York and the banking business, and in the autumn came to Columbus, where I now have the position of treasurer in a coal company."

CLARENCE WILLARD GLEASON.

"As yet neither fame, fortune, nor death. Am still connected with the Roxbury Latin School, and in a very modest way with the Young Men's Democratic Club of Massachusetts. I always rah for my college, and love the class of '88 much more than many another who makes more noise about it."

SIDNEY GLEASON.

"I am still in the employ of Kidder, Peabody & Company, in the Bond and Stock Department. I have never been a politician, but have always been a staunch Republican, and in view of recent national events I think I am likely to remain one. In local political matters I have been a little more active than in national politics. I have done my best to serve the city of Medford as a member of the School Committee, having been elected to that office two years ago. My principal recommendation to candidacy was an A. B. from Harvard University. I am also a member of the corporation of the Medford Savings Bank, and am more or less interested in other affairs purely local."

GUSTAVUS ADOLPHUS GOEBEL.

"I graduated at the Northwestern University Law School June 15, 1893, and have since been practicing law in this city. Feb. 1, 1894, I was appointed clerk of the condemnation proceedings for street openings and widenings in Chicago."

SAMUEL AMORY GOODHUE

Writes from Jamison City, Columbia Co., Penn.: — "I have been in this place since June, 1891, as manager for the Union Tanning Company and Thos. E. Proctor Lumber Company. I am not married, and there is no likelihood that I will be for some time to come. If any '88 men enjoy trout fishing, they will find hearty welcome and plenty of fish at this place."

JOSIAH FERDINAND GOODING

Has not been heard from.

ERNEST BARRON GORDON

Has not been heard from.

PERLEY WILLIAM GRAHAM.

"Lawyer and dealer in mining properties in Denver, Col. Married, Oct. 1, 1892, to Miss Nellie J. Ballard, of Malone, N. Y."

CHARLES LAMSON GRIFFIN

Is practicing law in the firm of Morse, Livermore & Griffin, 10 Wall St., New York. On Apr. 12, 1893, was married to Lillie Adelaide Johnson, at Calvary Church, New York City.

HERBERT DUDLEY HALE

Was married on Apr. 2, 1892, to Margaret Curzon Marquand, of New York City. Has since been studying at the Ecole des Beaux Arts in Paris. Expects to return to America this summer.

GEORGE GILMAN HALL

Has not been heard from.

SAMUEL STICKNEY HALL.

"When I returned from the West in the spring of 1891 I also returned to my old position in the American Exchange National Bank of New York. October 1, I was offered a clerkship in the Actuary's Department of the Mutual Life Insurance Company. I accepted, and have worked my way to the head of one of the divisions of that department. I am making a special study of the actuary's business and am trying to prepare myself for some good opening in that line. I was married, June 21, 1893, to Miss Eleanor S. Borst, of Clinton, N. Y., and am keeping house at 345 Manhattan Ave."

JAMES MOTT HALLOWELL.

"In April, 1891, I entered the Harvard Law School in the class of '93, L. S. In June, 1892, I left the Law School and entered the law office of Stickney, Spencer & Ordway, in New York City. I returned and took my Law School degree in June, 1893, and in the fall of that year was admitted to the bar of the city and county of New York. Shortly afterwards I was appointed Second Assistant Attorney-General of Massachusetts. Was admitted to the Suffolk bar on motion. Am now filling that position."

COSMOND ROSE HAMMERSLOUGH.

"I continue as before in the clothing business, devoting myself both to office work and selling goods. I am still a bachelor."

PHILIP MELANCTHON HAMMETT

Is now the general foreman of the Locomotive Department of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore R. R., at Wilmington, Del.

HORACE WARE HANSON.

"From December, 1891, to June, 1892, I taught Greek and Latin at Stonega Academy, Big Stone Gap, Va., and during the year 1892-93 in New Orleans University, New Orleans, La. At the present date I am teaching at Sunrise, Va."

JAMES FRANCIS HARLOW.

"I am practicing law in Quincy."

EDWARD AVERY HARRIMAN.

"After practicing law in Kansas for a time, I was appointed professor of law in Northwestern University. I am still unmarried."

EDWARD BRISTOL HARVEY.

"Since June, 1891, I have held no public appointments, and have been engaged in business in Buffalo as executor of the estate of my father. I am unmarried. In 1893 I visited Boston and Jamaica, W. I."

CHARLES HAMANT HARWOOD.

"I began office practice July 4, 1892; have been giving attention chiefly to obstetrics, and have had better success with my work than I had a right to expect at this time. I married, Nov. 22, 1892, Miss Helen M. Hunneman (sister of Mr. Carleton Hunneman, '89; Law School, '92), of Roxbury. My son, Willard Baxter, was born Oct. 30, 1893."

GUSTAVUS HAY

Is practicing law at 40 Water St., Boston. Spends much of his time at Springfield, Mass. Is not married. Published an article in the Harvard Law Review entitled, "Death as a Cause of Action in Massachusetts."

HENRY EDGAR HAYES.

"Since June, 1891, I have been in the Engineer's Department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in New York City. Have been made a member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. Have received no public appointments and have not been married."

WILLIAM PRIDE HENDERSON.

"I am teaching in a private school here, and have been since graduation. My work is principally in languages, and largely with men who are fitting for college."

HOMER WINTHROP HERVEY.

"Upon graduating from the Harvard Law School, I entered the office of Hon. H. M. Knowlton, the present Attorney-General of the State, and after a few months there was admitted to the bar and began the practice of my profession. I have remained ever since in the same office, and have succeeded as well as I could reasonably expect. About two years ago I was elected the commander of the New Bedford Company of the Naval Brigade M.V.M., and have been in command ever since. Last fall I was driven into politics from the fact that the city did not see fit to provide me with my idea of an armory. I was elected a member of the City Council without much difficulty, and have already obtained from the City Armory accommodations that satisfy me in every respect."

NORMAN FRANCIS HESSELTINE.

"After graduating from the Boston University Law School in 1891, I went out to Seattle, Wash., where I remained practicing law from July of that year till March, 1892. I successfully carried a case to the Supreme Court which was the first one decided in the courts of the State that a marriage must be solemnized according to the statutes in order to be valid. I also obtained from the Supreme Court a writ of certiorari against a judge of the Superior Court setting aside a decree which he had made outside of his jurisdiction. Since April, 1892, I have been practicing law in Boston, in company with my father, at 10 Tremont St., and residing at Melrose. In the autumn of 1893 I ran for the State Senate on the Democratic ticket in the Sixth Middlesex District, which is this year represented by a Republican. I sign all real estate deeds without the dower clause. I am a member of the Loyal Legion and University Club."

ALBERT FAIRCHILD HOLDEN.

"Since 1891 I have continued my business of mining. I am superintendent of the Old Jordan & Galena Mining Company, the Lucky Boy Mining Company, and the Utah Gem Mining Company. I have held no public position. I live in Salt Lake City for six months of the year. The rest of the year I travel West or East usually on business." He was married, on Apr. 27, 1892, to Katharine E. Davis, at Davis, W. Va.

DANIEL CURTIS HOLDER.

"Since the issue of the last report I have remained in business in Boston. Jan. 1, 1892, I was admitted to the firm of Holder & Herrick. As you know, I have not been married, and there are no prospects of my being so in the immediate future."

OSCAR HOWE HOLDER,

After graduating from the Harvard Medical School in 1892, was appointed Interne at the Woman's Hospital in New York City. Is practicing medicine at 54 W. 37th St., New York.

ROBERT AFTON HOLLAND

Has not been heard from.

LOCKWOOD HONORÉ

Is Special Assessment Attorney for the city of Chicago, Ill. He writes: — "I have been practicing law until appointed, on Jan. 17, 1894, to the position I now hold, indicated by the heading of this letter. The duties of the position require me to conduct the litigation arising out of the condemnation of land by the city of Chicago, and also of all litigation arising out of the special assessment of taxes to pay for local improvements."

WALTER GREGG HORTON

Graduated from the Law School in 1893 and has since been living in Boston.

EDWARD STURGES HOSMER.

"For the last three years I have been somewhat of a wanderer. In June, 1891, I received the degree of LL.M. from the Columbian University Law School at Washington, D. C., and was given the first prize on my examination papers. When it was awarded, however, I was on the plains, away out in Wyoming. For some ten months or more I remained West, sometimes on a ranch in Wyoming, in the mines in the Gogebic Range in Wisconsin, in Denver, in Milwaukee, in St. Paul, and Chicago. During this time I was interested in various enterprises, and obtained, I think, a deal of experience which proves of much advantage now that I am settled in the practice of the law in New York. I was here for a short time last year, but was compelled by illness to leave the city and went to my home in Washington, D. C. I returned, however, this autumn, and immediately went into the office of Davies, Short & Townsend, now styled Davies, Stone & Auerbach, where I think I am doing well, having already obtained a small clientele of my own."

ARTHUR LINCOLN HOWARD

Is still in business with Hayward & Townsend, Brokers.

ARTHUR CORNELIUS JACKSON.

"I am still pegging away at architecture. Was connected with J. & R. Lamb, a decorating house, for over two years, looking after the construction work, etc., and still superintend occasional work for them, but have been in another architect's office some (H. R. Marshall's), and been doing work on my own hook lately. Am a member of the University Athletic Club, Harvard Club, Architectural League of New York, 7th Regiment, University Settlement Society, '88 Dining Club, etc., etc. Am a Republican and a bachelor."

HERBERT KEIGHTLEY JOB.

"In July, 1891, having graduated in May from the Hartford Theological Seminary, I entered upon my first pastorate, with the Congregational Church at North Middleboro', Mass., where I still am. Was married, Sept. 10, 1891, in Mayville, N. D., to Elsie A. Curtiss, a graduate of Oberlin, '89, a Hartford lady. We have two children, — George Curtiss, born June 3, 1892, and Amy (middle name not decided), born Feb. 16, 1894. Our church edifice was destroyed by fire Mar. 15, 1893, and we have just completed and dedicated a beautiful and convenient modern structure. Have enjoyed health and many blessings these past years, for which I am thankful. My little family, also, have been entirely free from sickness. I am in a pleasant little manufacturing village, and enjoy my life and work very much."

ARTHUR TREADWAY JOHNSON

Has not been heard from.

CHARLES FRANCIS KAHNWEILER.*

Charles Francis Kahnweiler was born in New York City, July 14, 1867. He received his preparation for college at the Gunnery School, Washington, Conn. Beyond a genuineness of character and a capacity for the warmest friendship, his school days gave no special forecast of his future; but his career in college was marked by ambitious and brilliant scholarship as well as persistent effort, and his success in chemistry, his chosen field of study, met with the warmest recognition from his instructors and fellows alike. Kahnweiler's life in college was quiet, and although devoted to his work he was far from bookish, and took keenest interest in all that concerned his class and college. He was one of the original members and the second secretary of the Boylston Chemical Club. His original research in chemistry, conducted during his senior year, was published in the Proceedings of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, Vol. 24. After graduation he gave up his intention to follow chemistry as a profession, and took a position in New York City with August Lewis & Company, Manufacturers of Straw Goods, which he held until a few months before his death. Kahnweiler's college success followed him in business, to which he devoted himself with his characteristic energy and enthusiasm; at the same time he took deep interest in the political and social questions of the day, and found opportunity in his leisure moments to gain a rare degree of skill in photography. Kahnweiler suffered an attack of influenza in the winter of 1891-92, and although apparent recovery brought the return to active life, it was only for a brief period. Before convalescence had become complete his physicians saw signs of a serious affection of the lungs, which resulted in his death on July 17, 1892. Early in the summer his friends took him to camp in the Adirondacks, and there, where so many happy weeks of his life had been spent, the end came on a peaceful Sunday morning. Whatever may have been his characteristics as a student and business man, none who knew Kahnweiler intimately can ever think long of him otherwise than in the relation of a friend, overflowing with generous and noble impulses and always manifesting the most delicate sense of honor and highest moral principle.

HOWARD BEERS GIBSON.

DEMETRIUS KALOPOTHAKES.

"During the year that I spent here, in Athens, after my return from America, I attended some of the lectures of the two directors of the American School for Classical Studies." [He was not, as stated in the last report, a teacher in the American School.] "In May, 1890, I proceeded to Berlin, where after seven semesters I took my Ph. D. last August (1893). About the same time I underwent a severe operation of my right leg, with very satisfactory results. Since my return home, I have been appointed lecturer on history in the National University here, with very hazy prospects of a professor's chair at some distant date. More important for me is my work as Athen's correspondent for several large foreign newspapers, of Berlin and of London. I have also written for several American periodicals, and intend to do so still oftener in the future. I may say that journalism is my career for the immediate future. That is all I have to tell you. I am still a sorry bachelor and have splendid prospects of securing the 'booby' prize in the ardent matrimonial scramble which I see most '88 men engaged in. Nevertheless, nay, perhaps just because of this state of single blessedness, I have cherished the memories of Harvard and of '88 most affectionately, and will ever consider the ties sacred that bind me to you all. Should any '88 men turn up in Athens, they will find me ever glad to see them and to render them such services as lie in my power. We have had ten Harvard men here this winter, foremost among whom I must mention John Williams White; and I sincerely hope it may not be an impossibility to form a Harvard Club here eventually."

LINDLEY MILLER KEASBEY

Writes from Boulder, Col. : — "Events have crowded upon me since I last wrote an autobiography from Strasbourg, Germany. I will not enlarge, but simply give each fact of any importance. On Mar. 4, 1892, I took my degree of Doctor rerum politicarum from the University of Strasbourg and sailed for America. Appointed assistant in economics in Columbia College and lecturer at Barnard College in May, 1892. On June 8, 1892, married Miss Nelly Simrall of Louisville, Ky. In July, 1892, appointed professor of history, economics, and political science at the State University of Colorado. Came out here in September and have remained here ever since. In January, 1893, my book, 'Der Nicaragua Kanal,' was published by Trübner & Company, of Strasbourg. On Nov. 2, 1893, a daughter was born to us. Other publications : — 'The Economic State,' in December, 1893, number of Political Science Quarterly; 'The New Sectionalism,' January, 1894, number of Forum. Just accepted appointment of professor of political science, Bryn Mawr College. Will come East during the summer and take up residence at Bryn Mawr, Penn., in autumn. I have become a member of the following clubs and associations since 1891 : — Rocky Mountain Harvard Club, American Economic Association (member of Council, 1893-94), American Statistical Association."

FREDERICK KEFFER KELHAM

Is living with his mother at 121 West 95th St., New York, and is studying law.

MICHAEL EDWARD KELLEY.

"Shortly after leaving the Harvard Law School, in 1891, I came to New York City, entered the law office of Stickney, Spencer & Ordway, was admitted to the bar in 1892, and am now engaged in the practice of the law at 31 Nassau St., in that city."

RALPH AVERILL KELLOGG.

"In 1892 I was admitted to the bar of this State, and after a short practice in Plattsburgh I joined our classmate Edward C.

Mason, in Buffalo, N. Y., and soon after entered into partnership with him. Since then we have practiced law under the firm name of Mason & Kellogg, with some little success. So far as I can see, I am permanently established in this city."

FREDERIC HEDGE KENNARD.

"I am, as before, still buried alive in the General Electric Company, at their Boston office. Barring the fact that I have grown three years older, I have done little of interest to the class."

EDWARD HAMILTON KIDDER.

"In June, 1891, I terminated my engagement as tutor at St. Mark's School, Southboro', and sailed for Antwerp in company with W. R. Spalding, '87, one of my associate tutors. We spent the summer in travelling, first, up the Rhine, then Baireuth, Munich, and a walking trip in the Tyrol. Three days at Verona, more walking in Switzerland, two weeks in Paris, and a month in London and the Shakespeare country completed our tour. We arrived in New York in the last of September, thoroughly satisfied with things American. October 1, I enrolled my name on the third-year list at the Harvard Medical School. I also began teaching a physical science class in Miss Ireland's private school. After a year's hard work, I received a surgical appointment at the Massachusetts General Hospital for a term of nineteen months, terminating Mar. 1, 1894. In June, 1893, I received the degrees of M. D. cum laude and A. M. In 1891 I was elected to the Boylston Medical Society, and have recently joined the Massachusetts Medical Society. I am at present prospecting for a favorable site for the exhibition of my shingle."

WILLARD ROBERT KIMBALL.

"I am living in Syracuse, N. Y., and engaged in the development of street railroads in different parts of the country. A more detailed statement would be uninteresting."

FRANCIS WALLACE KNOWLES.

"I am practicing law in this city. I am glad to say people are fond of litigation in this section of the country, consequently business is good. Since the last class report was issued I have attained the dignity of becoming the parent of a fine boy, and I believe that that event is the most exciting and interesting of any which has happened to me since I wrote you last."

PERRY LAWTON.

"In June, 1891, I entered Uncle Sam's employ as superintendent of dredging on the Taunton River. When the appropriation was exhausted I was transferred to a similar position at Pawtucket, R. I. Later I became engineer in charge of examinations and surveys for river and harbor improvements for the Rhode Island district. The winter of 1891-92 I spent as assistant to M. M. Tidd, of Boston, working up a plan for a system of sewers for the city of Woburn, Mass. In July, 1892, I went to Rumford Falls, Me., as chief assistant engineer of the Rumford Falls Power Company. I remained there till April, 1893, when they brought me home to Quincy, sick. At the present time (March, 1894) I am still at Quincy, thankful that I am alive and hoping that with the return of warm weather I shall be well enough to resume work at my profession."

WILLIAM AUGUSTINE LEAHY.

"I was for some time literary editor, and am now assistant editor, of the Boston Traveller."

GEORGE BRIDGE LEIGHTON.

"For two years I have been president of this company (The Los Angeles Terminal Railway). Seven months of the year I run Monadnock Farms at Monadnock. As you know, I was married Apr. 12, 1893. Lately I read a pamphlet of which I shall send a copy; it seems to be attracting a good deal of comment. My annual travelling amounts to twenty thousand miles or more. I probably see as many Harvard men, therefore, in a year as any one. My occupations are of the pleasantest nature. The railway work keeps one alive and thinking and in active touch with the commercial life of the country; my farm brings me close to nature. Monadnock Farms took two prizes for butter at Chicago. The farm last year cost but $1,000, including $500 put into improvements."

ROBERT HAMILTON LELAND

Has been a student at the Harvard Law School, and is now living in Cambridge.

GEORGE HEYDENFELDT LENT

Has not been heard from.

ROBERT COLEMAN LE ROY

Has nothing to report.

LEO RICH LEWIS

Has not been heard from.

CHARLES JACOB LIVINGOOD.

Still with Thomas Emery's Sons, Real Estate and Investments, 35 West Fourth St., Cincinnati, O.

JAMES LOEB.

"The even tenor of my life has not been disturbed by any public appointments, by marriage, or any other noteworthy act done by me or to me! On the first of January, 1894, I was admitted to partnership in the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Company."

FRED BATES LUND.

Finished a term as Surgical Interne at the Massachusetts General Hospital, May 1, 1892. On May 13 was married to Zoe Meriam Griffing, at Lexington, Mass. Returned to Boston in July, and began the practice of medicine, at 122 Marlborough St., in August. Published, in the New York Medical Journal, an article on "Tenorrhaphy," being a thesis presented for the fourth-year degree in medicine, in 1892. Since October, 1893, has been District Physician to the Boston Dispensary. Is a member of the Tavern Club.

JOHN WHITE McCAMMON *
Died at Malden, Mass., May 17, 1892.

SAMUEL FOSTER McCLEARY, Jr.,*

Son of Samuel Foster McCleary of the class of '41, was born in Boston on Nov. 17, 1865. He was fitted for college at the Boston Latin School. Entering college with high honors, he maintained good rank throughout his college course, graduating cum laude. His college life was many-sided. He was a member of the Institute, Pudding, OK, and editor of The Advocate, he and Lloyd Garrison being the first freshmen who were ever elected to the position. He was one of the founders of the Harvard Banjo Club, and in December of his senior year was poet of the class dinner. The year after graduation he was engaged in business with the Boston Photogravure Company. In September, 1889, he entered the Harvard Divinity School, receiving the degrees of B.D. and A.M. The summer of 1891 he was sent by the American Unitarian Association to New Whatcomb, Wash., on the shore of Puget Sound, where he engaged in church work with marked success. The three months after graduation he spent abroad. On October 2 he began his pastorate as assistant minister to the Church of the Saviour, Brooklyn, N. Y., his special work being the charge of the Willow Place Chapel and the missions of the church. The arduous duties of his position, and an unwarranted feeling of incapacity for his work, led to his death on Dec. 2, 1892.

There was not one among our classmates more modest and unassuming, more unwilling to put himself forward, and more truly unconscious of self than Samuel Foster McCleary. Yet he was conspicuous among them all, conspicuous for these very traits of character, and for his open friendliness of spirit. He was always a welcome visitor, and always had a welcome for his visitors. He had an abundance of life and interest for each new friend or pursuit that won his attention. But the eagerness which was one of his most marked qualities was not of that faulty kind which results only in fits of enthusiasm. It was seen in the zest with which he enjoyed himself, and helped others to enjoy life.

It was shown in kind and appreciative words, and was never centred on his own aims and hobbies. His life seemed to overflow constantly, like the waters of a clear, refreshing spring, and one always "knew where to find him." So also with his literary work — it was the natural utterance of active thought and vivid imagination; not labored or forced. The things which have an attraction for such a mind are numerous. The chief difficulty in life is in choosing which to pursue, for, as it used to be with the elective courses in college, there is an embarrassment of riches. It was all the more a proof of McCleary's high aims and character that with so many interests drawing him in different directions, he chose to devote himself to a direct and personal ministry among his fellowmen. Head and heart were both fitted for the work, and he gave himself to it with that consuming eagerness which finally brought sorrow to all who loved him. But more than anything else his self-sacrifice has shown us how full of warm and noble feeling, and how unselfish our friend was. By these memories, "he, being dead, yet speaketh."

FREDERICK H. MEANS,
HERMAN PAGE,
CARROLL E. EDSON, } For the Class.

ROWLAND BLENERHASSET MAHANY,
Buffalo, N. Y.

RICHARD CLARKE MANNING.

"The college year of 1891-92 I spent at the Harvard Graduate School in the study of classical philology as Charles Haven Goodwin Scholar. Since then I have been continuing these studies, as Rogers Fellow, in Germany, for two semesters at Bonn, and since then at Leipsic. In the spring of 1893 I made a six weeks' trip to Italy."

FRANCIS SKIDDY MARDEN.

"I was married, on Apr. 29, 1892, to Fannie Louise Clark, daughter of Mr. Cyrus Clark, of this city, and a sister of Walter D. Clark, (Harvard '89). For six months after our marriage we resided at 314 West 89th Street, but as I rented the house last fall, we moved to the country and are now living at Nutley, N. J. Our classmates Robert C. Le Roy and Marshall H. Clyde were two of my ushers. I am still employed by Mr. W. I. Quintard, 45 Wall St. We moved into new offices on May 1,— in the Loeb Building, 27 and 29 Pine St."

ALEXANDER BECKWITH MARKS.

"I held my old position as teller in the First National Bank, Natchez, Miss., till Jan. 1, 1893, when I came to Bastrop, La., to take position of cashier in Bastrop State Bank, which was then organized, the first bank in the town. I was married, Nov. 18, 1891, to Miss Emily J. Feltus, of Adams County, Miss.; have one child, a boy, seventeen months old, named Alexander Marks."

GEORGE EDWARD MARSH

Has not been heard from.

EDWARD CAMPBELL MASON.

"In March, 1892, he was admitted to the practice of law at the bar of New York State, and in June of the same year graduated from the Harvard Law School. September 1, 1892, he left the firm of Sprague, Morey, Sprague & Brownell, with whom he had been since March, 1891, and commenced the practice of law alone at 84 White Building, Buffalo. October 6, 1892, at Arlington, Mass., he married Martha Sprague, daughter of William F. Sprague of Arlington. In March, 1893, he formed a partnership for the practice of law with Ralph A. Kellogg (Harvard, '88). The new firm located at 110 Franklin St., Buffalo, where it is at present."

HENRY LOWELL MASON.

"I have lived in Boston since the last report. Am not married. February, 1893, I was elected a director of the Mason & Hamlin Organ and Piano Company, with which company I have been ever since graduation."

FREDERICK HOWARD MEANS.

"For more than a year after I left New Haven my life was mostly 'on the road'— not, however, in any commercial capacity. In the fall of 1891 six weeks were spent in travelling through the West, as far as Colorado. Then followed nine months of preaching in various places in New England, as a 'candidate.' In September, 1892, I came to Windham, Conn. My parish here consists of two villages, one the centre of a farming population, the other a manufacturing place, supported by machine shops. I was ordained and settled as pastor of the church, May, 1893. Married, May 25, 1893, to Helen C. Coit, of Winchester, Mass. Visited the World's Fair, and have since been at work here."

WILLIAM STETSON MERRILL.

"I have received no public appointments. My business position is the same; I am still an assistant librarian at the Newberry Library; not yet married."

HARRY FESSENDEN MESERVE.

"My life for the last three years, with the exception of one short trip back East last fall, has been passed far out here on Puget Sound, patiently waiting for the country to grow. At present I am holding the position of assistant cashier in the Merchants' National Bank of this city, where I am also a director. As to athletic achievements (?) I have managed for the last three years, with the able assistance of George Atkinson, Jr., well known to many members of the class of '88, to hold the tennis championship of the Pacific Northwest, thereby winning the Marrott Open-for-all Challenge Cup. Public appointments with their burdens and marriage with its burdens I have escaped as yet. I trust that any of my classmates who may be passing through this country will look me up. The Harvard Club of Seattle now has a membership of about forty."

HARRY ROBERTS MILES.

Received the degree of B.D. from Yale Divinity School in 1892, and continued study in the graduate department of that school during the following academic year. For two years from August, 1891, was assistant pastor in Dr. Munger's church in New Haven. Went abroad in September, 1893, for a year of study and travel, spending the winter semester in Berlin, under Professor Harnach, and the spring recess in Italy. He writes from Halle that he expects to return to his church work in New Haven in September. Address, 445 Orange St., New Haven, Conn.

SIDNEY ROBY MINER

Is practicing law at Wilkes-Barre, Penn.

WILLIAM MITCHELL.

"I graduated from the Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge, June 15, 1892, receiving the degree of B.D. The same year I was ordained to the priesthood by the late Bishop Phillips Brooks. I was married, in Grace Church, New York, to Miss Gertrude Wakelin, of Charlottetown, P.E.I., June 23, 1892. September 4 of that same year I took charge of Trinity Mission, Kendallville, Ind. (a mission which I had organized the previous summer). In less than a year we built a neat frame chapel. Nov. 12, 1893, I accepted the rectorship of St. Luke's Church, Allston, Mass."

CHARLES De VERD MUSAUS.

"Since June, 1891, I have travelled considerably about the country, largely in the West, partly for pleasure, chiefly for information. Have been superintendent of the money-order system in the San Francisco Post-Office. Have been admitted to the California bar, and while my professional practice has not been large, it has been flatteringly successful."

WILLIAM NELSON

Has not been heard from.

WILLIAM KIMBALL NORTON.

"In June, 1891, I terminated a two years' connection with the Lawrence (Mass.) High School as sub-master. This I did to accept a better position as principal of the Nute High School of Milton, N. H. This school was established by a fund left by a deceased townsman. It is the only school of its grade on the Northern Division of the Boston and Maine Railroad, between Rochester and the White Mountains. The school numbers about sixty-five pupils at present, but is growing. I had the pleasure of opening and inaugurating the school. I have two assistant teachers. We fit for any college. My daughter, Marion Norton, the class-cradle baby, is a particularly plump and healthy girl of nearly four and a half years. She is now getting old enough to hear some of the tales of Fair Harvard and to understand what is meant by the carved inscription on her cradle, 'Class of '88.' In another sense, too, she hears much of Harvard, for she has a promising young brother who came to us as a Christmas gift, two years ago. His name is Harvard Norton, and I am proud of it. He is named not only for his father's alma mater, but his name must mean for him particularly the illustrious class of '88. I wish to take this opportunity to extend a very earnest invitation to all my friends, classmates of '88, to visit me in my New Hampshire home, that they may taste the pleasures of this beautiful, healthful resort."

PETER JOSEPH O'CALLAGHAN.

"Last Holy Saturday I was ordained a sub-deacon. On May 27 I was made a deacon, and on September 8 I was ordained a priest. After my ordination I went back to the Catholic University at Washington. I stayed there until Christmas, when I was detailed for work in this parish of St. Paul, the Apostle. This is a parish of sixteen thousand souls from every round of the social scale, from the highest and most cultured to the lowest and dirtiest slums. Many priests attend to the wants of this large congregation. Every Sunday we have eight morning services which are all well attended and usually crowded. I find plenty to do and no time for study. I have charge of the St. Vincent de Paul Conference and Ladies' Aid Society, which attend to the needs of the poor. I have also charge of two temperance societies, one for men and one for women. Preaching and appearing on certain other public occasions are part of my duties as a priest. I have been, on two occasions, a minister at Pontifical High Mass with his Excellency Mgr. Satolli as celebrant. While in Washington I was a member of the Washington Harvard Club." He preached to a large audience in Appleton Chapel, on Apr. 1, 1894.

ROBERT LEE OVERTON

Has made no report.

HERMAN PAGE.

"After my marriage, in June, 1891, I started for northern Idaho and began the work of my ministry in Wallace, the trade and drink centre of the great Coeur d'Alene mining country. I remained there about six months and then went to the little town of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, beside the United States Military Post, Fort Sherman, about thirty-five miles southeast of Spokane, Wash. Here Herman Riddle Page was born, May 3, 1892. I remained in Coeur d'Alene till June 25, 1893, doing such work as usually falls to the lot of a clergyman. Among other things, I started a day and boarding school for boys, which ran with more success to the boys and the town than to myself. In February, 1893, I received a call to St. John's Church in this city (Fall River), where I came July 15. I am not quite at home in the busy town of the Traffords, Jack Highlands, and ———. In my wanderings I have always found Harvard men, who have proved themselves the best and most congenial friends. I have written and spoken about what might be expected. At times I have had provincial greatness thrust upon me, but nothing of any interest to the class or the world. My chief business position was that of sub-janitor in my first western church. I was a failure. I shall rejoice to practice my ministerial ability to talk to any classmate travelling to or from New York on the 'largest and most palatial steamboats in the world—go via Fall River Line'—who will stop over and see me. Same sign on the church and house, 'Every one welcome.'"

ROBERT TREAT PAINE, Jr.

"Since the last report I have joined the Athletic and Country Clubs and the New York Reform Club. Am trustee of the Wells Memorial Institute for Working-Men, treasurer of the People's Institute, director in the Working-Men's Loan Association, clerk of the Working-Men's Building Association, president of the People's Building Association, trustee of the Norfolk Downs Land Company, and president of the Boston Water Power Company. Am a member of the Democratic City Committee of Boston and on the Executive Committee of the Young Men's Democratic Club of Massachusetts. I was nominated by the Democrats of Ward 10 for the Common Council, 1892, and though defeated, received more votes than the Republican candidate for mayor. In 1893, I ran on the Democratic ticket for the Lower House of the Legislature."

BRADLEY WEBSTER PALMER.

"I have only to say that I came to Boston in June, 1891, to practice law, and I have been attending to my duties with more or less regularity ever since. I was admitted to practice at the bar of this Commonwealth in August, 1891, and have since been admitted to the Circuit Court of the United States."

FRANK DIXON PEALE

Is practicing law in New York City.

EDWARD ALLEN PEASE.

"After having received the degree of M.D. from Harvard, and served two years as House Surgeon at Massachusetts General Hospital, hung out his shingle at some bachelor apartments at 125 Pinckney St., corner Charles, Boston; and there he has remained, as it is very near St. Margaret's Hospital, where much of his work is done. He is the private assistant of Dr. John Homans. He has an appointment as District Physician at the North End of Boston, where he has done duty for more than a year. Is a member of Massachusetts Medical Society. February, 1893, received appointment as Medical Examiner of John Hancock Life Insurance Company, and has done much work for them during past years. Is a member of Union Boat Club and Puritan Club. Is not married nor engaged."

HENRY PENNYPACKER.

"The only change in my fortunes since the last report is my removal from Brooklyn to Boston. I was elected a junior master in the Boston Latin School in September, 1891, and came here from the Adelphi Academy."

VALENTINE MOTT PIERCE.

His two children, Ray Vaughn, and Scott Ward, died last September of malignant diphtheria, within twenty-four hours of each other. From the Buffalo Commercial of April 25, 1894:—

DEATH OF MRS. LAURA SEVERANCE PIERCE.

The many friends of Dr. V. Mott Pierce will tender him sincere sympathy in the great affliction he has sustained by the death of his estimable and accomplished wife, Laura Severance Pierce, at the early age of twenty-nine years. The sad event occurred yesterday at the family residence. Mrs. Pierce, whose maiden name was Laura Belle Severance, was born at Pittsburg, Penn., July 24, 1865. She attended Wellesley College, and was married to Dr. Pierce June 26, 1888. The sad death of her two little sons from diphtheria last year will be recalled by many. The first, Ray Vaughn Pierce, was born June 26, 1889, and died Oct. 21, 1893, and the second, Scott Ward Pierce, who was born May 24, 1891, died Oct. 23, 1893. The strain of this double bereavement told upon the health of the devoted mother, and she has been an invalid most of the time since. Her death will be deeply regretted by all who knew her.

EDMUND PLATT.

"When the last report was issued I think I was in West Superior, Wis., as editorial writer for the Evening Telegram of that city. I left there in May; spent several weeks in Minneapolis, and three weeks in the Black Hills, S. D., and then returned to Poughkeepsie. June 23, 1892, I was married, in this city, to Miss Adele Innis, daughter of Aaron Innis of the dye-wood manufacturing firm of Innis and Company. July 1 of the same year I became a member of Platt & Platt, publishers of the Poughkeepsie Eagle, and here I am still, and am likely to stick."

FREDERIC PLUMMER.

"Your circular was received this morning and I think I can answer it in a few words. I am still living at my home in Auburndale and engaged in business in Boston in the note brokerage line. On January 1 of this year I was admitted to partnership with my brother, with whom I have been associated since I left college. The style of the firm is now W. E. & F. Plummer."

HENRY MERRIHEW PLUMMER.

"Since last report Henry M. Plummer has been farming in southern Massachusetts. His farm produces poultry. He markets a few and buries the rest. Will soon have more experience and less money than any man in the same business. Have been married nearly six years and have three children. They are all boys. Ran for selectman of town of Dartmouth, but merits were not appreciated, and was made 'fire warden' without salary instead. Was president of a successful agricultural fair in 1893, and have held the office of lecturer and am now overseer of Dartmouth Grange of the Order of Patrons of Husbandry. Am also a master mason."

HENRY TEMPLE POPE

Was married, on Apr. 27, 1893, to Jessie Lenora Colburn, at Fort Payne, Ala. Has not been heard from.

CHARLES ALLEN PORTER.

"Since the last report I graduated from the Massachusetts General Hospital, where I was Surgical Interne, and after a short trip to New York, etc., to the hospitals, settled down into private life. I have written no medical works nor have I spoken at any medical meetings. In connection with the Medical School I am assistant in bandaging, minor surgery, and in anatomy. Last fall I had a chance to watch the football every day as Dr. Conant's assistant. This spring I spend my evenings with a quiz in anatomy, and am beginning to appreciate the difficulties of teaching." In June, 1894, he was appointed Surgeon to Out Patients at the Massachusetts General Hospital.

EDWARD BIGLEY PRATT

Has not been heard from.

HENRY ALLSTON PULSFORD.

"I received the degree of M.D. from the College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York, in June, 1891. In October of the same year I passed the New Jersey State Board examination, and in the following December took a position as Interne in the New York Skin and Cancer Hospital, where I remained for eighteen months. In June, 1893, I started practice in South Orange, N. J., where I expect to remain permanently. In December I was appointed to the Dispensary Staff of the Orange Memorial Hospital."

GEORGE ROYAL PULSIFER.

"Since June, 1891, I have finished my course at the Law School and graduated. In February, 1893, I was admitted to the Suffolk County bar, and in September of the same year commenced practice for myself. On June 20, 1893, I married Miss Helen Webster Root, of Chicago, Ill. I belong to the University, Newton Boat Club, and Players."

WILLIAM HENRY RAND

Writes from the office of Hoadley, Lauterbach & Johnson, Attorneys at Law, New York:—

"I can only say that for three years I have been a brief writer and general utility clerk for the gentlemen whose names head this paper. I was married, on June 15, 1892, to Rosalie, daughter of Charles Bartlett Crockett and Katherine Montgomery Crockett. I have no children."

ALBERT WOOD RANTOUL.

"I have been since the last report in the electrical business in Boston, at first with the Holtzer-Cabot Electric Company, but for the last year with Cumner, Craig & Company. I have lived quietly in Beverly, and am not yet married."

JOHN EARLE REYNOLDS.

"Since June, 1891, I have been practicing law in Meadville, Penn. I am also in the real estate business, having many farms situated in this part of the State in my charge. Am a director in several local corporations."

GEORGE JOSEPH RICHARDS

Has been actively engaged in business.

CHARLES BUTLER ROGERS

Is cashier of the First National Bank of Utica, N. Y. Was married, in January, 1894, to Susan Brayton, of Utica, and is with his wife en route for Japan by way of California, Oregon, Washington, and Vancouver.

CHARLES J. ROLFE.

"In June, 1891, I took the examination for admission to the Massachusetts bar, and was admitted to practice in September of the same year. For some months I practiced in the office of an attorney in Boston, and in the following June took an office for myself at 42 Court St. I have been practicing law there ever since. I have not been appointed to any public office, and am still single. I still live in Cambridge, which will account for the uneventfulness of my life since the last report. I am a member of the University Club of Boston, the Colonial Club of Cambridge, and the Corinthian Yacht Club of Marblehead."

WILLIAM ROPES.

"Since the last class report was published, my life has been exceedingly uneventful and commonplace. As I believe you know, I am most happily married and settled down to a quiet, domestic life. Am in no active business, but manage to enjoy the good things of life, by travel, social duties, etc., etc. In short, I think you will find nothing of interest to '88 to add to the coming report, as I go abroad in May."

HENRY WARREN SAMPSON

Is said to be in business somewhere on the Pacific coast.

EDWARD HOSMER SAVARY.

"I am neither married nor engaged. What I have published during the last three years has related entirely to legal matters and is without interest to the general public. I have neither striven for nor held public office, and have done nothing but peg away at the law."

JAMES ALFRED SAXE.

"The year 1888-89 was spent in Berlin, studying music and the modern languages, ending with an all-summer tramp in Switzerland with my brother. The three following years, 1889-92, were spent at the Harvard Law School and brought me the degree of LL.B. In June of 1892 I married, and went almost immediately abroad, spending the summer in Norway, the fall and early winter in Germany, and late winter and early spring in Italy. In the spring of 1893, I settled down to the law."

JOHN WALTER SAXE.

"In June, 1892, I finished my course at the Harvard Law School, taking the degree of LL.B., having been duly 'called to the Suffolk bar' the preceding February. I immediately entered the law offices of Hyde, Dickinson & Howe, in Boston, and remained with them until November last, when my brother and I hung out our shingle at the above address (732 Exchange Building, Boston), where we should be pleased to see the boys."

BERNARD TURNER SCHEMERHORN

Writes from the office of Harmon H. Child, Real Estate and Mortgages, 35 Congress St., Boston: — "In the autumn of 1891 I left the Holtzer-Cabot Electric Company and cast in my lot with the Thomson-Houston Electric Company, where I stayed till June of 1893, one year of which time was under the management of the General Electric Company. After leaving there I went down to Nova Scotia, to a mining-camp, where I stayed till Thanksgiving Day, that seeming to be a most appropriate occasion to celebrate my return to civilization. On Jan. 1, 1894, I went into the real estate and insurance business, in which it is my intention to stay."

JOHN HUNTER SEDGWICK.

"In December, 1891, I entered into partnership with Appleton L. Clark, for the general practice of law, with offices at 58 Wall St. In March, 1894, we moved to 26 Exchange Place, in the building of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company. On the eleventh day of February, 1893, I was married to Miss Rachel M. Griffith, of Boston. I have addressed no learned, scientific, or other society, neither have I occupied any position of trust, public or private."

THOMAS TAYLOR SEELYE

Has not been heard from. Address not known.

JOHN MERWINE SEIP

Has not been heard from.

CHARLES TILDEN SEMPERS

Has been interested in college settlement work in Boston and elsewhere. Is now in residence at the East Side House, New York, 76th St., E. R.

JEREMIAH M. SHAHAN

Has not been heard from.

HERMAN THYNG SHEPARD.

"After graduating from Andover in 1891, I left the East for Kansas and the State of Washington, spending the summer of 1891 in Kansas and coming to Washington in October, where I have remained to the present time in charge of the Union churches of Franklin and Black Diamond, near Seattle. I received the appointment of orator for the Fourth of July celebration by the citizens at Black Diamond, in 1893, and the same appointment for the Seventy-fifth Odd Fellows' Anniversary celebration at the same place in 1894, and have acted as correspondent for the Seattle Post Intelligencer for the past year. I have become a member of the Order of Free Masons and of the Order of Odd Fellows. I am a member of the Harvard Club of Seattle."

THOMAS OSBORNE SHEPARD

Received his degree in medicine, after a four years' course in the Harvard Medical School, in June, 1892. Was appointed Interne at the Massachusetts Charitable Eye and Ear Infirmary, but was obliged to leave in a few months, owing to the poor health of his mother. Is now abroad.

FERDINAND SHONINGER*

Died at Paris, Nov. 25, 1893.

ALLAN THACHER SIMPKINS.

"In the fall of that year (1891), in a moment's weakness, I was inveigled into going into the wholesale grocery business, and entered the employ of James H. Brookmire & Company at that time. On Jan. 1, 1892, I took the position as secretary and treasurer of the Bauer Grocer Company, and have since that time been connected with that firm."

CHAUNCEY SMITH, JR.

"During the past three years I have been with the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, except for a period of about a year, during which I was in the copper-refining business at Ansonia, Conn. My headquarters are now at 125 Milk St., Boston, but I am apt to do considerable travelling during the summer months on business."

DANIEL KIMBALL SNOW

Is still in business with Tucker, Anthony & Company, Bankers and Brokers, 50 State St., Boston.

EUGENE SONDHEIM.

"In June, 1891, I was admitted to the bar of this State, after having attended Columbia Law School for two years. Since then I have been a member of the firm of Nathan, Sondheim & Sondheim. On Apr. 26, 1893, I was married to Miss Helen Stettheimer, of this city."

EDWARD WILLIAM SPALDING

Has not been heard from.

WILLIAM STUART SPAULDING

Is in business with Nash, Spaulding & Company, Broad St., Boston.

FREDERICK DUDLEY STETSON.

"I have done nothing remarkable, nor have I committed any great crime, since the report of 1891, which would be of interest to the members of the class. I was married, Oct. 3, 1891, to Helen W. Prescott." In February, 1894, formed a law partnership with his brother, Elliott Stetson, the firm name being Stetson & Stetson.

EDMUND CHANNING STOWELL,

After taking his degree in medicine, was appointed House Physician at the Massachusetts General Hospital. He finished his term at the hospital in February, 1893. On June 1, 1893, he was married to Dr. Sarah Russell May, in Dorchester, Mass. Soon after their marriage they went abroad for foreign study and travel.

LYNDE SULLIVAN

Is engaged in the practice of law at the Sears Building, Boston. Is a member of the St. Botolph Club.

WILLIAM LAWSON SUMRALL.

In the winter of 1892–93 was employed as a reporter on the New York Sun, in which position he remained for ten months, which time, he writes, "was full sufficient to convince me that my instinctive reverence for truth and my inculcated reverence for accuracy of statement had utterly disqualified me for the noble business of reporting. I am now reading law in the office of an eminent practitioner, and expect to obtain a license in a short while."

HAROLD SWAIN.

"After being admitted to the New York bar in February, 1890, I continued my studies at Columbia (my law practice not yet being remunerative enough to occupy all my time), and finished the three years' course in June, 1891. I then spent a few months in England, France, and Switzerland, and in Paris met the girl who is now my wife. In the summer of 1892 I did my best to furnish a black-headed page in this report as the result of a three months' siege of typhoid fever, but the doctor told me that the remnants of the physical condition I owed to fair Harvard and 'the Gym.' had saved my life, and I got out of bed with no bad results except an appetite which enabled me to break all amateur records by adding twenty-one pounds to my weight in fourteen days. In September, 1893, I married Miss Margaret Reid, who is now filling an engagement as prima donna of the famous 'Bostonians.'"

SOLOMON LOUIS SWARTS

Is practicing law in Cincinnati as a partner in the firm of Jackson & Swarts.

EDWARD WYLLYS TAYLOR.

"From October, 1891, to September, 1893, spent in Germany in medical study. Returned to Boston, October, 1893, and began practice at 122 Marlborough St. Appointments:—From September, 1892, until August, 1893, assistant to Professor Hermann Oppenheim, Berlin. At present; Assistant in Neurology, Massachusetts General Hospital; Assistant in Pathology, Harvard Medical School. Member of the Boston Medico-Psychological Society; Boston Society of Medical Sciences. Published in Boston Medical and Surgical Journal, 'The Study of the Anatomy of the Central Nervous System;' in Deutsche Zeitschrift für Nervenheilkunde, 'Sur Pathologischen Anatomie der Multiplen Sclerose.'"

WALTER GOVE TAYLOR

Has not been heard from.

EZRA RIPLEY THAYER.

"In June, 1891, I graduated from the Law School, and was admitted shortly afterwards to the Suffolk bar. After graduating, I received the prize offered by the Harvard Law School Association for an essay on the subject of 'Judicial Legislation.' I passed the following year in Washington, as private secretary to Mr. Justice Gray, of the Supreme Court of the United States. Since that time I have been in practice in this city, in the office of Warren & Brandeis, where I now am. I still belong to the insignificant remnant of the class of '88 which remains unmarried."

LUCIAN SKINNER THAYER.

"I am now with the New England Telegraph and Telephone Company, instead of with Henry W. Peabody & Company."

WILLIAM GOODRICH THOMPSON.

In August, 1893, was appointed Assistant United States Attorney for the District of Massachusetts. Is practicing at 97-98 Post-Office Building, Boston.

HARVEY PARKER TOWLE.

"Since the last report was issued, in June, 1891, I have been engaged in institution work. Entering the Boston City Hospital as House Officer in January, 1891, I completed my service of eighteen months in July, 1892. Then I was offered a position at the State Hospital to have charge of the Male Hospital in that institution. The Male Hospital has a capacity of about one hundred and seventy beds. I remained there one year. In July, 1893, I returned to the Boston City Hospital as Executive Assistant Superintendent, where I remained until January, 1894. I have since then been in private practice at 373 Boylston St., Boston. In January, 1894, I received an appointment as Assistant Physician to the Out Patient Department for Diseases of the Skin at the Boston City Hospital."

GEORGE EDWARD WALTER ULLRICH.*

In Memoriam.

The members of the class of Harvard College of the year 1888 wish to express their great sorrow at the death of their classmate George Edward Walter Ullrich. He was a man of singular sweetness and gentleness of disposition, and of a retiring nature. He brought to Cambridge a love for learning and a devotion to the truth that made him immediately at home in the life of our university. He was very fond both of music and of poetry, and was thoroughly German in both. He was also an enthusiastic student of folk-lore, knowing many of the tales of the Fatherland by heart. To the few who were fortunate enough to know him intimately, he showed a charming hospitality, a quaint sense of humor, and an independence and generosity in his opinions that were the fruits of a friendship never to be forgotten. After graduation his strength slowly declined, and he then travelled extensively in a vain search for health. He died at Asheville, N. C., Apr. 16, 1892. His classmates offer their heartfelt sympathy to his bereaved parents for the loss of an only son. May the remembrance of the strong, simple friendship which he gave to us still further assure them that he has not lived in vain, and be some slight consolation in their great grief.

BENJAMIN CARPENTER,
JOHN DANE,
GUSTAVUS HAY, JR., } For the Class.

RALPH HENRY VAN DEMAN.

"After graduation I studied medicine in Cincinnati, O., until Aug. 1, 1891, when I was appointed a second lieutenant in the United States Army and assigned to the 21st Infantry. Was sent to Fort Leavenworth, Kan., on Sept. 15, 1891, and relieved and ordered to join my regiment, then serving in the Department of the Platt, on the first of January, 1892. I had been assigned to Company A, which was stationed at Fort Sidney, Neb. I joined them on the first of January, and I served at that post until the first of May of the same year, when my regiment was sent East and my company, together with headquarters band, and two other companies, took station at Fort Niagara, N. Y. On the first of December, 1892, I went on six months' leave, returned to Cincinnati, O., and again took up my medical studies and obtained my degree of M.D. in April. I rejoined my company at Fort Niagara on May 30, 1893, and served with it until Sept. 1, 1893. I was then sent to the School of Application for Officers — the United States Infantry and Cavalry School — at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., where I now am. The course of instruction here is two years, so my address until June, 1895, will be Fort Leavenworth, Kan."

JOHN WILLIAM HENRY WALDEN.

"I received my Ph.D. in June, 1891, and at the same time a Rogers Fellowship, which enabled me to spend a year (1891-92) at the University of Berlin. During my stay abroad, I travelled through Germany and Italy, and visited parts of Switzerland, France, and England. On my return to America, in September, 1892, I was appointed instructor in Latin at Exeter, and in December, 1893, instructor in Latin at Harvard. I shall have an article on 'Heliodorus, the Novelist,' in Vol. V. of the Harvard Classical Studies, which appears this spring."

ERVIN WARDMAN.

"I am still with the New York Tribune, as I have been since my graduation."

HENRY STEELE WARDNER.

"Directly after graduation I went to Europe with Workum. We sailed from New York on July 7, by the French line. We travelled in France, Germany, Switzerland, and Italy, and afterward I spent a week in London. I got back about the first of October. I entered the Harvard Law School that fall, and again took up my quarters in my old room,— 10 Weld,— which you will recollect as one of the very best in the yard. I took the full three years' course at the Law School, and received my LL.B. degree in June, 1891. I was a member of the Thayer Law Club for two years. In July, 1891, I went to New York, where I have since resided. For the first few weeks I was in the office of Charles W. Gould, Esq., 2 Wall St., but in August I secured a position in the office of the United States Attorney for the Southern District of New York, where I stayed for two years. Garrison succeeded me in my former office, and has done well by it. I was admitted to the New York bar in June, 1892. My work in the United States Attorney's office was chiefly in the criminal department, and was perhaps rather more interesting than the usual run of practice. In October, 1893, I went into the office of Sewafd, Guthrie, Morawetz & Steele, 29 Nassau St., where I have since remained. Since the first few months after coming to New York, I have lived at the same place on West 25th St., at a house which is now famous for the number of Harvard men who have at one time and another made their headquarters there. I think the following is a full list: Alexander and Willard, '87, Rand, Garrison, Workum, Sedgwick, and Wardner, '88, Trafford, '89, Nichols, Codman, and Cumnock, '91, Duane, '92, and Wardner, '95. I am a member of the Harvard Club of New York, and the Bar Association. I have always been a Republican. My summer vacations I always spend at Windsor, Vt."

FARRINGTON HASHAM WHIPPLE.

"July, 1891, to January, 1893, Surgical House Officer at Boston City Hospital. During greater part of 1893 travelled through Europe, devoting a portion of the time to medical study at Berlin. Nov. 1, 1893, to the present time, settled in the practice of medicine in Boston."

WALTER MARINUS WILLETT.

"After receiving my degree of LL.B. from the Harvard Law School, in 1891, returned to my home in this city (San Francisco, Cal.) and entered into the practice of my profession. At the general election held in this State in November, 1892, was elected, on the Republican ticket, one of the judges in the Justices' Court. On June 1, 1893, was married to Miss Viola V. Voorman, of this city. My address is Room 3, 230 Montgomery St., San Francisco, Cal."

FRANK BACKUS WILLIAMS.

"After graduating from the Harvard Law School, in June, 1891, I went at once into the law office of Chamberlin, White & Mills, here in Hartford. Mr. Chamberlin is a Massachusetts man, and a Harvard Law School graduate of fifty or more years ago, and Mr. Mills a Harvard College man, class of '76. It is rather remarkable that in a city with more Yale men and sympathy than, perhaps, any other in the blue State of Connecticut, I should have drifted into an office with such a crimson tinge. The firm is counsel for two of Hartford's many insurance companies, the Phœnix Fire and the Connecticut General Life, and has somewhat of a general practice besides, especially in trade-mark cases. About two years ago I opened an office of my own (in a new office building with a decidedly unprofessional name, — 'Unity Building'), but soon accepted an offer from Chamberlin, White & Mills, whom I had left only a month before, to return to them, where I remained until my present partnership began last January." His present partner is Judge Elisha Carpenter, for twenty-eight years a judge of the Supreme Court of Connecticut, the firm name being Carpenter & Williams.

FRANK BEVERLY WILLIAMS.

"The year after graduation I spent at home, Cleveland, O. In the fall of 1889 I returned to Harvard as instructor in political economy, but resigned before beginning my duties, on account of my health. Mason, of our class, took my place, and I accepted the less onerous office of assistant in American history. At the end of the year I took my A.M. degree for work in history and Roman law. Then I went abroad for two years, on a fellowship, to study the Roman law and the continental systems based on it. The first three of my four semesters I spent in Berlin, where I took all of the regular course pursued by the German law student. The last semester I put in at Paris in the Ecole de Droit and the Ecole des Science Politiques. During the vacations I travelled about a good deal, managing to cover most of the beaten paths in Great Britain and Ireland, and the western countries on the Continent. In September, 1890, I came back to Cambridge as instructor in Roman law, and at the same time entered the Law School. I give a course and a half in Roman law, and find myself able to take the full regular work in the Law School. This year I am the last remnant of '88 in the school. I expect to come up for my degree next year."

JOHN WALTER WOOD, Jr.

His father writes: —"My son, Mr. J. Walter Wood, Jr., is at present in Europe on business. For the past two years he has been in business for himself, as a banker, at 46 Exchange Place, this city. The firm name is Hoskier, Wood & Company."

FRANCIS CALL WOODMAN.

"My work has been exclusively with the Messrs. Longman, publishers in London and New York, since college, and I find little time to think of much else."

WILLIAM McMICHAEL WOODWORTH.

"In October, 1891, was appointed instructor in microscopical anatomy at Harvard University, in which capacity I have served ever since. I have been able to find some time for private study, the results of which have been published from time to time in the Bulletin of the Museum of Comparative Zoology. For the past two years have been associated with the head of my department in the translation from the German of a text-book of embryology, the first volume of which is now in the press."

Temporary Members.

JOHN JACOB ASTOR.

In April, 1893, published a novel entitled "A Journey in Other Worlds."

BENJAMIN LEONARD BOODRY

Is still employed as bookkeeper in the Home National Bank of Brockton, Mass. Has resigned the office of town treasurer and collector.

AMOS COTTING.

"There is no change in my life since the last report."

PHILIP DEXTER.

"Since graduating from the Harvard Law School, in June, 1892, I have been employed in the office of Messrs. Ropes, Gray & Loring."

WILLIAM FRANKLIN DRAPER.

"Since 1891 I have continued in business as a member of the firm of Geo. Draper & Sons, and am also interested in other companies, being a director in five manufacturing corporations."

EDWARD ALBERT FARGO.

"I have nothing to report that would be of particular interest to my classmates."

CHARLES SIMPKINS FAY

Has not been heard from.

HERBERT MELANCTHON FEDERHEN

Is practicing law in Court Sq., Boston.

PAUL FOSTER FOLSOM.

"As junior partner of the firm of Hawley, Folsom & Ronimus I have been financially successful. The treasuryship of a ward committee was thrust upon me for the coming year."

HENRY FRANC

Has made no report.

CHARLES RICHARDSON HOLMAN.

"I am still connected with the Holyoke Machine Company, of this city (Worcester, Mass.). I was married, Oct. 11, 1893, to Miss Susan Lee Longstreth, of Philadelphia, Penn."

HARRY HOMANS

Is in the banking and brokerage business at 50 State St., Boston, as a partner in the firm of Elliott & Homans.

GEORGE AUGUSTUS HOPKINS.

"I was in the leather business for five years after I left college, in 1886, at the end of my sophomore year. Was one year in the stock brokerage business, but did not like it. Am now Boston agent for the Manhattan Life Insurance Company, of New York, with my office at 4 Post-Office Sq., Boston, Mass., where I am always glad to see inquiring friends who put, or wish to put, a high value on their lives. Last May I married Frances Ames Barrett, and we are living at 89 Mt. Vernon St., Boston, and Cohasset, Mass., in summer. This is about all in regard to myself, except that for recreation I drive and ride a good deal and play polo. Am a member of the Country Club."

STILES PARSONS JONES.

"There was no change of particular moment in my circumstances since the last report until October last, when, weary in body and mind, I resigned my position with the St. Paul Pioneer Press and came East to recuperate for a few months among old associations. I have made Poughkeepsie my headquarters, and at this time, April 8, expect that I shall be here yet a few weeks longer. I have idled away all these winter months and gotten much benefit from the change. At this writing I am with friends on a farm about five miles from the city, where I am renewing acquaintance with the homely duties of rural life, with the expectation of putting the knowledge to practical account, later, on the family acres in southern Minnesota. I purpose to do but very little more newspaper work; my plan now is to settle down seriously to the business of making stock grow as stock never grew before, and flooding the pork and butter markets of my native State with the products of my broad acres. I hope to make the change the coming autumn, and respectfully ask for the prayers of all my friends for the success of my venture. Beyond a week at the World's Fair and occasional hunting trips, I have occupied myself pretty regularly with the business of my profession, and my literary efforts have been confined solely to that line of work."

JOSIAH BEARD MOORE

Has not been heard from.

FRANCIS LISTER HAWKES NOBLE.

"Came to San Francisco, August, 1888, and joined Examiner Staff. Have been reporter, artist, telegraph editor, night editor, city editor, and am at present Sunday editor. Married, July 8, 1893, at Narragansett Pier, R. I. My wife was the daughter of the late Prof. Joseph Leidy, of the University of Pennsylvania.

Have held no political positions whatever. Am a member of the Bohemian and other clubs in San Francisco. Am a regular citizen of San Francisco, and vote and pay taxes in this city. Best wishes to the members of the class of '88."

RUPERT NORTON.

"During the year of 1892 I was Resident House Officer at the Children's Hospital in Boston; and since February, 1893, I have been one of the House Officers at the Johns Hopkins Hospital. I received my degree of M.D. in June, 1893."

JOHN RICE PURDON.

"My life since 1891 has been spent in Washington, D. C., at work in the Navy Department in connection with the designing of the new vessels of the Navy."

FRANK CLINTON ROBY.

"I am practicing law at the old stand. Was married on Sept. 19, 1893, and am residing at 947 Wabash Ave., Roseland, Chicago, Ill. Have had no novel experiences except plenty of work."

ISAAC RAND THOMAS.

"I became a member of the firm of Barnes & Cunningham, Bankers, 53 State St., Boston, on Jan. 1, 1892, having joined the Boston Stock Exchange on Dec. 14, 1891, and have been there ever since. Mrs. Thomas and the two children, Arthur and Elizabeth, are well, and we are living at 6 Richter Terrace, Beacon St., Brookline, Mass. I retired from the firm of Barnes & Cunningham, on April 1, and am not engaged in any active business."

WILLIAM MANNING VAN HEUSEN.

"I'm sorry I cannot embellish the next class report with any interesting experience anent my life since the last report. It may, however, be somewhat remarkable that, despite the Hawaiian Infamy, the Wilson Bill, the odious Income Tax, the prevailing financial depression, and other incidents of rampant democracy, I am still transacting business at the old and original stand."

JULIUS ROSS WAKEFIELD.

"I am still with the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company, in their Boston office."

FRANKLIN B. WILEY,

Soon after leaving college in 1888, took part in the presidential campaign then in progress, making a number of speeches for the Republican candidates in New York City and its neighborhood. After the election, he assisted in the formation of the Republican Speakers' Union of the United States, becoming a charter member and trustee. He spent the winter of 1888–89 in New Orleans and Houston, Tex., and on returning north, settled in New York, was elected a resident member of the Harvard Club of that city, and engaged in literary work, writing for Harper's Weekly, The New York Tribune, and other publications. He removed to Cambridge, Mass., in 1890, and, under the new management of The Dorchester Beacon, became associate editor of that paper, and established a department for literary comment, entitled "Round the Study Table." He also wrote special articles, stories, and verses for The Boston Evening Transcript, The Yankee Blade, The Woman's Home Journal, and other papers, besides delivering addresses at the commencement of his preparatory school in 1890, and, by invitation of the principal, at the reopening of the school in the autumn. On Sept. 1, 1891, he joined the staff of The Transcript, and continues to hold a position on it. In 1892 he was assistant in English in the Harvard Summer School.

Occupations.

Law. — Adams, Appleton, Ashe, J. W. Austin, J. A. Bailey, Baldwin, Bennett, Bolster, Bottum, Brush, Burdett, G. A. Carpenter, Chittenden, Choate, M. B. Clark, Cuningham, Davidge, Davidson, Dean, Dexter, Dickinson, Duane, Fowler, Friend, Garrison, Gasquet, Goebel, Gooding, Graham, Griffin, Hallowell, Harlow, Harriman, Harvey, Hay, Hervey, Hesseltine, Honoré, Hosmer, Kelham, Kelley, Kellogg, Knowles, Leland, E. C. Mason, Miner, Musaus, Paine, Palmer, Peale, Pratt, Pulsifer, Rand, Roby, Rolfe, Savary, J. A. Saxe, J. W. Saxe, Sedgwick, Seelye, Shahan, Sondheim, Stetson, Sullivan, Sumrall, Swain, Swarts, E. R. Thayer, Thompson, Trull, Van Heusen, Wardner, Willet, F. B's Williams, Workum.

71 4 75

Medicine. — Balch, G. P. Cogswell, Dane, Edson, Eldridge, Ewald, Francis, W. H. Furness, W. J. Gallivan, Gay, Harwood, O. H. Holder, Kidder, Lund, Mills, Rupert Norton, Pease, Pierce, Porter, Pulsford, T. O. Shepard, Stowell, Taylor, Towle, Van Deman, Whipple. 24 2 26

Theology. — Brock, Elkins, Holland, Job, Means, Miles, Mitchell, O'Callaghan, Page, Sempers, H. T. Shepard. 11

Teaching. — Bancroft, Bôcher, Bruuer, Drake, W. W. Gale, Gibson, C. W. Gleason, Hanson, Hayes, Henderson, Keasbey, W. K. Norton, Pennypacker, Walden, F. B'y Williams, Woodworth. 16

Business. — Abbott, Bartlett, Beals, Blossom, Bowen, Brewer, Causten Browne, Jr., T. Q. Brown, Butler, B. F. Carpenter, Cheever.

Churchill, Clement, M. H. Clyde, Thomas Clyde, 3d, Daniels, Dean, Draper, Folsom, Forsyth, Franc, H. E. Gale, Gilbert, Goodhue, G. G. Hall, S. S. Hall, Hammerslough, D. C. Holder, Holman, Hopkins, Kennard, Kimball, Lent, Livingood, Mahany, Manning, H. L. Mason, Nelson, Overton, Pope, Paine, Rantoul, Reynolds, Richards, Schermerhorn, Simpkins, Smith, Spaulding, L. S. Thayer, Taylor, Wakefield, Warren, Woodman. 46 7 53

Banking. — G. L. Allen, De Billier, Bradlee, Boodry, Cabot, Chase, Dana, S. Gleason, Howard, Loeb, Marden, Marks, Meserve, F. Plummer, Rogers, Snow, Wood. 15 1 16

Journalism. — Barnes, Barry, Curtis, Fuller, J. A. Gallivan, Kalopothakes, Leahy, Noble, Platt, Wardman. 9 1 10

Architecture. — Codman, C. N. Cogswell, De Gersdorff, Hale, Jackson. 5

Civil Engineering. — Davis, Hammett, Hayes, Lawton, Moore. 4 1 5

Chemistry. — Bancroft, Gibson.

Mining. — Crocker, Holden.

Farming. — Amory, Leighton, H. M. Plummer, Jones.

Railroading. — Leighton.

Consular Service. — Anderson.

Physical Science. — Bliss.

Biology. — Field, Woodworth.

Librarians. — Forsyth, Merrill.

U. S. Army. — Flint, Van Deman.

Recorder. — G. W. Cram.

None or Unreported. — Boas, Bohlen, Dewart, Fales, Farnum. Gordon, Johnson, Le Roy, Marsh, Mead, Ropes, Sampson, Seip, E. W. Spaulding. 14

The following table compares the probable occupations given in 1888 with the actual occupations in 1891 and 1894.

	1888.	1891.	1894.
Law	56	67	71
Medicine	22	21	24
Theology	7	12	11
Teaching	15	17	16
Study	3	4	0
Business	53	63	63
Journalism	10	7	9
Architecture	8	5	5
Engineering	2	3	4
Mining	1	2	2
Farming	0	2	3
Railroading	2	1	1
Miscellaneous	8	4	8
	187	208	217

RESIDENCE.

The following table shows the changes in residence between 1888, 1891, and 1894.

	1888.	1891.	1894.
Alabama	0	1	1
Athens	1	0	1
California	6	5	5
Colorado	0	0	2
Connecticut	3	4	5
Delaware	1	2	3
District of Columbia	6	5	3
Florida	1	1	0
Georgia	0	0	2
Germany	0	3	1
Idaho	0	1	0
Illinois	6	9	8
Indiana	2	1	1
Kansas	0	0	0
Kentucky	1	1	1
Louisiana	1	0	2
Maine	2	0	0
Maryland	0	0	1
Massachusetts (Boston, 41)	133 (Boston, 36)	111 (Boston, 48)	99
Mississippi	1	1	0
Missouri	3	6	3
Montana	0	1	0
New Hampshire	5	2	2
New Jersey	8	10	5
New York (N. Y. City, 12)	28 (N. Y. City, 15)	38 (N. Y. City, 29)	53
Nova Scotia	0	0	1
Ohio	8	6	5
Ontario	0	1	0
Paris	1	1	1
Pennsylvania	12	8	7
Rhode Island	1	0	1
Tennessee	2	2	1
Utah	0	2	2
Vermont	1	0	0
Virginia	0	0	1
Washington	0	1	2
Wisconsin	2	4	2
	235	227	221

Marriages, Births, and Deaths.

MARRIAGES.

Copley Amory	Mary Forbes Russell	Milton, Mass., Dec. 5, 1889.
C. H. Baldwin	Lillian King White	Evanston, Ill., Sept. 10, 1891.
William Barnes, Jr.	Grace Davis	Albany, N. Y., June 12, 1888.
Maxime Bôcher	Marie Niemann	July 21, 1891.
Wilfred Bolster	Jeanie T. Pond	Roxbury, Mass., Oct. 4, 1893.
J. A. Bowen	Mary S. Whitney	Cambridge, Mass., June 19, 1890.
F. J. Bradlee	Elizabeth Whitwell Thomas	Boston, Mass., Jan. 15, 1890.
Graham H. Brewer	Alice Humphrey	Apr. 28, 1892.
C. H. Burdett	Winella White Stratton	Boston, Mass., Feb. 12, 1890.
Charles Mills Cabot	C. E. Perkins	Brookline, Mass., Sept. 21. 1893.
George Albert Carpenter	Harriet Isham	Chicago, Ill., May 10, 1894.
Benjamin French Carpenter	Helen G. Fairbank	Chicago, Ill., Sept. 18, 1893.
H. D. Cheever	Maud Russell Barnard	Boston, Mass., Oct. 1, 1890.
Charles Francis Choate	Louise Burnett	Southboro, Mass., June 15, 1892.
Frederic Percival Clement	Maude Morrison	Elizabeth, N. J., Nov. , 1891.
K. F. Crocker	Hester Edith Miles	Fitchburg, Mass., Sept. 19, 1889.
B. F. Curtis	Mary E. Mudge	Lynn, Mass., June 23, 1891.
Francis Bryden Dana	Florence Knight	Boston, Mass., June 1, 1892.
David Taggart Dickinson	Carrie Melvin Story	Manchester, N. H., Dec. 8, 1892.
H. H. Furness	Louise Brooks Winsor	Philadelphia, Penn., May 3, 1890.
Herbert Elbridge Gale	Martha Jane Pollard	Clifton, Mass., Sept. 29, 1892.
W. W. Gale	Ellen Rowell Kelly	Exeter, N. H., Sept. 9, 1890.
Howard Beers Gibson	Marie V. Doupé	London, Eng., April, 1892.
C. W. Gleason	Nellie Frances Morrison	Natick, Mass., July 1, 1890.
Perley William Graham	Nellie J. Ballard	Malone, N. Y., Oct. 1, 1892.
Charles Lamson Griffin	Lillie Adelaide Johnson	New York, Apr. 12, 1893.
Herbert Dudley Hale	Margaret Curzon Marquand	New York, Apr. 2, 1892.
Samuel Stickney Hall	Eleanor S. Borst	Clinton, N. Y., June 21, 1893.
Charles Hamant Harwood	Helen M. Hunneman	Roxbury, Nov. 22, 1892.
Albert Fairchild Holden	Katharine E. Davis	Davis, W. Va., Apr. 27, 1894.
Herbert Keightley Job	Elsie A. Curtis	Mayville, N. D., Sept. 10, 1891.
Lindley Miller Keasbey	Nellie Sumrall	Louisville, Ky., June 8, 1892.
W. R. Kimball	Mary Knowlton	Utica, O., Nov. 20, 1890.
F. W. Knowles	Emma James Jarrett	Philadelphia, Penn., June 17, 1891.
George Bridge Leighton	Charlotte Kayser	St. Louis, Apr. 12, 1893.
R. H. Leland	Cora Eugenia Sanger	Sherburn, Mass., June 28, 1890.
Fred Bates Lund	Zoe Meriam Griffing	Lexington, Mass., May 13, 1893.
Francis Skiddy Marden	Fannie Louise Clark	New York, Apr. 29, 1893.
Alexander Beckwith Marks	Emily J. Felton	Natchez, Miss., Nov. 18, 1891.
Edward Campbell Mason	Martha Sprague	Arlington, Mass., Oct. 6, 1892.
Frederick Howard Means	Helen Chandler Coit	Winchester, Mass., May 25, 1893.
William Mitchell	Gertrude Wakelin	New York, June 23, 1892.
W. K. Norton	Eliza Maria Marion	Boston, Mass., June 28, 1888.
Herman Page	Mary Morehead Riddle	Pittsburg, Penn., June 25, 1891.

Henry Pennypacker	Anna H. Carpenter	Philadelphia, Penn., June 20, 1889.
V. M. Pierce	Laura B. Severance	Pittsburg, Penn., June, 1888.
Edmund Platt	Adele Innis	Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 23, 1892.
H. M. Plummer	Alice Hussey	New Bedford, Mass., Sept., 12, 1888.
Henry Temple Pope	Jessie Lenora Colburn	Fort Payne, Ala., Apr. 27, 1893.
George Royal Pulsifer	Helen Webster Root	Chicago, Ill., June 20, 1893.
William Henry Rand	Rosalie Crockett	Medford, Mass., June 15, 1892.
Charles Butler Rogers	Susan Brayton	Utica, N. Y., January, 1894.
William Ropes	Grace E. Thorn	New York, N. Y., Feb. 19, 1891.
James Alfred Saxe	Mary Wick	Cleveland, O., June 23, 1892.
John Hunter Sedgwick	Rachel Meriweather Griffith	Boston, Feb. 11, 1893.
Eugene Sondheim	Helen Stettheimer	New York, Apr. 26, 1893.
F. D. Stetson	Helen Prescott	New Bedford, Mass., Oct. 3, 1891.
Edmund Channing Stowell	Sarah Russell May	Dorchester, June 1, 1893.
Harold Swain	Margaret Reid	New York, September, 1893.
Walter Marinus Willett	Viola V. Voorman	San Francisco, Cal., June 1, 1893.
John Jacob Astor	Ada Lowle Willing	Feb. 17, 1891.
Chas. R. Holman	Susan Lee Longstreth	Philadelphia, Oct. 11, 1893.
George A. Hopkins	Frances Ames Barrett	Boston, May, 1893.
Francis L. H. Noble	Leidy	July 8, 1893.
Frank Clinton Roby		Sept. 19, 1893.
Daniel Kimball Snow	Clara Anthony	Boston.
I. R. Thomas	Gertrude Stuart Fabyan	Boston, Mass., June 12, 1889.

BIRTHS.

Copley Amory	Copley, Jr.	Nov. 12, 1890.
	Son	Oct. 25, 1893.
William Barnes, Jr.	Thurlow Weed	June 6, 1889.
Maxime Bôcher	Helen	Aug. 23, 1892.
	Esther	Sept. 22, 1893.
J. H. Bowen		June, 1891.
F. J. Bradlee	F. J., Jr.	Dec. 20, 1892.
F. P. Clement	Daughter	July 31, 1893.
C. F. Choate	Joseph B. Chas. F., 3d.	May 3, 1893.
B. F. Curtis	Gordon	Dec. 19, 1892.
F. B. Dana	Ralph Francis	Nov. 18, 1893.
H. E. Gale	John Elbridge	July 17, 1893.
W. W. Gale	Eleanor Edwards	Oct. 30, 1891.
H. B. Gibson	Livingston Beers	—— 1893.
H. D. Hale	Herbert Dudley, Jr.	—— 1893.
C. H. Harwood	Willard Baxter	Oct. 30, 1893.
H. K. Job	George Curtiss	June 3, 1892.
	Amy ——	Feb. 16, 1894.
L. M. Keasbey	Daughter	Nov. 2, 1893.
F. W. Knowles	Son
A. B. Marks	Alexander	October, 1892.
W. K. Norton	Marion	Nov. 17, 1889.
	Harvard	Dec. 25, 1892.
Herman Page	Herman Riddle	May 3, 1892.
Valentine Mott Pierce	Ray Vaughn	b. June 26, 1889, d. Oct. 21, 1893.
	Scott Ward	b. May 24, 1891, d. Oct. 23, 1893.
H. M. Plummer	Charles Warren	May 25, 1890.
	Son
	Son

I. R. Thomas . . . . . Arthur Malcolm . . . . . Mar. 25, 1890.
Elizabeth Whitwell . . . . . June, 1891.

DEATHS.

Charles Worcester Clark . . . . . Roxbury, Mass., Mar. 31, 1891.
Sheldon Emery . . . . . Cincinnati, O., Oct. 24, 1890.
Charles Haven Goodwin . . . . . Cambridge, Mass., July 6, 1889.
Edward Jewett Hall . . . . . April, 1890.
Charles Francis Kahnweiler . . . . . Loon Lake, N. Y., July 17, 1892.
Francis Ellas McCall . . . . . Bath, N. Y., Nov. 22, 1889.
John White McCammon . . . . . Malden, Mass., May 17, 1892.
Samuel Foster McCleary . . . . . At Sea, Dec. 2, 1892.
Heywood Mason Paul . . . . . Philadelphia, Penn., May 17, 1889.
Henry Shelton Sanford . . . . . New York, N. Y., Oct. 1, 1891.
Charles B. Saunderson . . . . . Feb. 22, 1888.
Ferdinand Shoninger . . . . . Paris, Nov. 25, 1893.
Walter Ullrich . . . . . Asheville, N. C., Apr. 16, 1892.

Class Fund.

Copley Amory,

In account with Harvard '88 Class Fund.

1894.		Dr.	Cr.
May 1.	For subscriptions received to this date,	$6,223.86
" "	" income on investments " " "	918.53
1894.
May 1.	By paid for securities to this date, net,		$5,895.72
" "	" expenses of committee and agent to this date,		958.67
" "	" cash balance on hand,		288.00
		$7,142.39	$7,142.39

Income from investments from May, 1893, to May, 1894, $295, or 5% (on cost).

Securities on hand, May 1, 1894.

		At cost.	Present value.
$1,000	bond, New York & New England R. R. 7%,	$1,240.00	$1,120.00
1,000	" Kansas City, Ft. Scott & Memphis 6%,	1,130.00	810.00
500	" American Bell Telephone 7%,	550.00	560.00
600	" Chicago, Burlington & Quincy R. R. 5%,	598.11	615.00
10	shares " " "	1,014.98	785.00
5	" St. Paul, Minn. & Manitoba "	558.75	525.00
3	" General Electric Co. pfd., formerly Thomson-Houston Co.,	330.50	201.00
5	" Chicago & Northwestern R. R.,	563.13	540.00
		$5,985.47	$5,156.00
	Less gain on Old Colony Railroad shares sold,	89.75
		$5,895.72
	Subscriptions overdue (not paid).	$1,815.50

Appendix.

SAMUEL FOSTER McCLEARY, Jr.*

"Samuel Foster McCleary, Jr., the son of Samuel Foster McCleary, of the class of '41, and Emily Thurston (Barnard) McCleary, was born in Boston, Nov. 17, 1865. He had his schooling, first at the Rice Grammar School and, later, at the Boston Latin School, from which he entered Harvard with honors. From Harvard he received a detur in his sophomore year, a Commencement part at graduation, and a degree cum laude. On leaving Cambridge, he made a year's experiment in business, which he abandoned in response to an impulse which drew him into the ministry. He entered the Harvard Divinity School in 1889, applied himself diligently during his three years' course, and graduated with honors in 1892, reading a thesis on "The Life and Times of Savonarola." During his summer vacation in 1891, he acted as pastor of a small Unitarian congregation at New Whatcomb, Wash. In his winter vacation in the same year he assisted the Rev. H. Price Collier, of the Church of the Saviour, Brooklyn, N. Y., with such ability that his services were sought as assistant minister, a position he accepted with every pleasant anticipation. The summer of 1892 he spent in Europe, and his eagerness to see as much as possible during his brief three months' stay, and his nervous intensity of enjoyment, so wore upon instead of resting him that he returned home in October bodily unwell, and unfit to take up the unexpected burden of Rev. Mr. Collier's resignation, through which the charge of a large parish, then in confusion, devolved upon him. He undertook his work with inadequate strength, but with a characteristic enthusiasm of spirit that quite burned out his feeble body. His death occurred Dec. 2, 1892. The news was the occasion of such spontaneous sorrow that his father has collected some of the more notable expressions of it, and bound them in a memorial volume (privately printed at the University Press), together with some of McCleary's sermons, and with his letters of travel, which do not suffer in comparison with those of the lamented Phillips Brooks, so recently published. This volume, enriched with two portraits, will always serve to recall him to us as we shall move away—I will not say from him, but from our old selves. A copy is in the Harvard College Library. This is the bare chronicle of a pure and useful life. It tells nothing of the lovable boy, of the fine and delicate gentleman that lived it; but beyond it, biography for our successors ceases to be possible, and for ourselves ceases to be necessary.

*This notice was received too late for publication in regular order, but gives so good an account of the life and character of our classmate that the secretary is unwilling to leave it out of the report.—F. B. L.

L. McK. G.

Orange, N. J., May, 1894.

Addresses.

Walter Abbott. — Abbott & Wheelock, 23 Cliff St., New York, N. Y.
C. F. Adams, Jr. — 53 State St., Boston.
G. L. Allen. — 298 ½ Essex St., Salem.
William S. Allen. — Greenfield.
Copley Amory. — 28 State St., Boston, and Home Farm, Walpole, N. H.
Larz Anderson. — Care of American Legation, London, Eng.
James W. Appleton. — 21 Maiden Lane, New York, N. Y.
G. M. Ashe. — 2315 Sacramento St., San Francisco, Cal.
J. W. Austin. — 89 State St., Boston, and Jamaica Plain.
J. A. Bailey, Jr. — Arlington, and 53 State St., Boston.
Dr. F. G. Balch. — 1 Marlborough St., Boston.
C. H. Baldwin. — 99 Randolph St., Chicago, Ill.
W. D. Bancroft. — 61 Mt. Vernon St., Boston.
William Barnes, Jr.— 229 State St., Albany, N. Y.
J. D. Barry. — 46 W. 17th St., New York, N. Y.
N. E. Bartlett. — Wakefield.
W. Beals, Jr. — 125 Newbury St., Boston.
J. I. Bennett. — Chestnut Hill Ave., Brighton.
W. B. De Billier. — 60 Wall St., New York, N. Y.
W. J. A. Bliss. — 820 Connecticut Ave., Washington, D. C., and Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md.
E. L. Blossom. — 434 Asbury Ave., Evanston, Ill., and 225 La Salle St., Chicago, Ill.
M. E. Boas.
Prof. Maxime Bôcher. — 90 Concord Ave., Cambridge.
Charles Bohlen. — 1301 Walnut St., Philadelphia, Penn.
Wilfred Bolster. — 10 Cobden St., Roxbury.
F. H. Bottum. — 63 New Insurance Building, Milwaukee, Wis.
J. H. Bowen. — P. O. Box 277, Fall River.

F. J. Bradlee. — 940 Beacon St., Brookline.
G. H. Brewer. — 21 Cortlandt St., New York, N. Y.
G. A. Brock.
Causten Browne, Jr. — P. O. Box 669, Salt Lake City, Utah.
Thomas Q. Brown, Jr. — 87 Milk St., Boston.
W. F. Brush.—16 E. 37th St., New York, N. Y.
M. L. Bruuer. — Leicester Academy, Leicester.
C. H. Burdett. — 55 Liberty St., New York, N. Y.
A. P. Butler. — Jamaica Plain.
C. M. Cabot. — 374 Newbury St., Boston.
B. F. Carpenter. — 50 Cedar St., Chicago, Ill.
G. A. Carpenter. — 107 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill., and 28 Portland Block.
Percy Chase. — 47 Baltimore St., Lynn.
H. D. Cheever. — 13 Park Row, New York, N. Y.
R. P. Chittenden.
C. F. Choate, Jr. — Southboro, and Ames Building, Boston.
Asaph Churchill. — Alban St., Dorchester, and 246 Devonshire St., Boston.
Henry M. Clark, Jr. — 918 Beacon St., Boston.
M. B. Clarke. — Care of Carter, Hughes & Kellogg, 96 Broadway, and 6 Wall St., New York, N. Y.
F. P. Clement. — East Side Bank Building, Toledo, O.
M. H. Clyde. — Care of W. P. Clyde & Co., 35 Broadway, New York, N. Y.
Thomas Clyde, 3d. — Care of W. P. Clyde & Co., 35 Broadway, New York, N. Y.
S. R. H. Codman. — 17 Brimmer St., Boston.
C. N. Cogswell. — 61 Kirkland St., Cambridge.
G. P. Cogswell. — 61 Kirkland St., Cambridge.
G. W. Cram. — Holyoke 33, Cambridge, and 360 Walnut St., Boston.
K. F. Crocker. — Fitchburg, Mass.
Alan Cuningham. — 838 Market St., Wilmington, Del.
B. F. Curtis, Jr. — Wellesley Hills.
F. B. Dana. — Exchange Building, 53 State St., Boston.
Dr. John Dane. — 379 Boylston St., Boston.
W. P. Daniels. — 73 E. 127th St., New York, N. Y.

W. D. Davidge, Jr. — Washington, D. C.
T. D. Davidson. — 2221 Washington St., San Francisco, Cal.
Chandler Davis. — Care of Dept. of Docks, Pier A., Battery Place, New York, N. Y.
F. L. Dean. — 14 Cedar St., Worcester.
F. H. Dewart.
D. T. Dickinson. — Exchange Building, 53 State St., Boston.
H. B. Drake. — Auburndale.
Russell Duane.—742 Drexel Building, Philadelphia, Penn.
Dr. C. E. Edson.— 249 Warren St., Roxbury.
Henry Edwards. — Quincy.
J. R. Eldridge. — 1250 California St., San Francisco, Cal.
W. P. Elkins. — Andover, N. H.
C. A. Ewald. — Newton, N. J.
F. L. Fales. — Care of Mass. State Board of Health, Lawrence.
C. E. Farnum. — P. O. Box 336, Quincy.
H. H. Field.
Grover Flint. — 1st U. S. Cavalry, Washington, D. C.
W. G. Forsyth. — 261 Broadway, Providence, R. I.
W. E. Fowler. — Worcester.
C. S. Francis. — Brookline.
Charles Friend. — 3 and 4 Mack Block, Milwaukee, Wis.
R. H. Fuller. — Care of Albany Evening Journal, Albany, N. Y.
H. H. Furness, Jr.—2034 De Lancey Place, Philadelphia, Penn.
Dr. W. H. Furness, 3d.—222 W. Washington Sq., Philadelphia, Penn.
H. E. Gale. — 4 Highland Ave., Haverhill.
W. W. Gale. — Smith Academy, St. Louis, Mo.
J. A. Gallivan. — 113 W. 3d St., So. Boston.
Dr. W. J. Gallivan. — 752 Broadway, So. Boston.
Lloyd McK. Garrison. — 2 Wall St., New York, N. Y.
M. J. Gasquet. —617 Charles Ave., New Orleans, La.
Arthur Park Gay.—114 Huntington Ave., Boston.
G. B. De Gersdorff. — Stockbridge.
H. B. Gibson. — Agricultural Experiment Station, Middletown, Conn.
H. L. Gilbert. — Columbus, O.
C. W. Gleason. — 20 ½ St. James St., Roxbury.

Sidney Gleason. — West Medford.
G. A. Goebel. — 30 Kemper Place, Chicago, Ill.
S. A. Goodhue. — Jamison City, Columbia Co., Penn.
J. F. Gooding. — 96 Prescott St., Cambridge.
E. B. Gordon. — 182 W. Brookline St., Boston.
P. W. Graham. — 438 Equitable Building, Denver, Col.
C. L. Griffin. — 10 Wall St., New York, N. Y.
H. D. Hale. — 39 Highland St., Roxbury.
G. G. Hall. — 690 Broadway, Chelsea.
S. S. Hall. — Actuary Dept., Mutual Life Ins. Co., New York, N. Y.
J. M. Hallowell. — West Medford.
C. R. Hammerslough. — The Dakota, New York, N. Y.
P. M. Hammett. — Locomotive Dept., Phil., Wil. & Balt. R. R. Co., Wilmington, Del.
H. W. Hanson. — Sunrise, Va.
J. F. Harlow. — Quincy.
E. A. Harriman. — Evanston, Ill., 710 Masonic Temple, Chicago, Ill.
E. B. Harvey. — 433 Linwood Ave., Buffalo, N. Y.
Dr. C. H. Harwood. — 112 Dartmouth St., Boston.
Gustavus Hay, Jr. — 383 Marlborough St., Boston.
H. E. Hayes. — 153 Cedar St., New York, N. Y.
W. P. Henderson. — 8 First Place, Plainfield, N. J.
H. W. Hervey. — 38 N. Water St., New Bedford.
N. F. Hesseltine. — 10 Tremont St., Boston.
A. F. Holden. — Salt Lake City, Utah.
D. C. Holder, Jr. — 47 Broad St., Boston.
Dr. O. H. Holder. — 54 W. 37th St., New York, N. Y.
R. A. Holland, Jr. — Cambridge.
Lockwood Honore. — 2103 Michigan Ave., or 66 Portland Block, Chicago, Ill.
W. G. Horton. — 41 Commonwealth Ave., Boston.
E. S. Hosmer. — 32 Nassau St., New York, N. Y.
A. L. Howard. — 826 Main St., Cambridge.
A. C. Jackson. — 104 W. 45th St., New York, N. Y.
Rev. H. K. Job. — No. Middleboro.
A. T. Johnson.

Demetrius Kalopothakes. — Athens, Greece.
L. M. Keasbey. — Boulder, Col.
F. K. Kelham. — 191 W. 95th St., New York, N. Y.
M. E. Kelly. — 31 Nassau St., New York, N. Y.
R. A. Kellogg. — 110 Franklin St., Buffalo, N. Y.
F. H. Kennard. — Brookline.
Dr. E. H. Kidder. — 20 Rock St., Fall River.
W. R. Kimball. — 1616 N. Salina St., Syracuse, N. Y.
F. W. Knowles. — Prudential Building, Newark, N. J.
Perry Lawton. — 39 Washington St., Quincy.
W. A. Leahy. — 53 G St., So. Boston.
George B. Leighton.—Dublin, N. H., and 712 Rialto Building, St. Louis, Mo.
R. H. Leland.— Cambridge.
G. H. Lent. — 699 Polk St., San Francisco, Cal.
R. C. Le Roy.—Union Club, New York, N. Y.
Leo R. Lewis.
C. J. Livingood.—35 W. 4th St., Cincinnati, O.
James Loeb.—37 E. 38th St., or 30 Nassau St., New York, N. Y.
Dr. F. B. Lund.—122 Marlborough St., Boston.
Hon. R. B. Mahany.— Buffalo, N. Y.
R. C. Manning, Jr.—Salem.
F. S. Marden.—27 and 29 Pine St., New York, N. Y.
A. B. Marks.—Bastrop, La.
G. E. Marsh, Jr.—37 Breed St., Lynn.
E. C. Mason.—84 White Building, Buffalo, N. Y.
H. L. Mason. — 155 Tremont St., Boston.
George Herbert Mead.
Rev. F. H. Means. — Windham, Conn.
W. S. Merrill. — 651 Fullerton Ave., Chicago, Ill.
H. F. Meserve. — Merchants Nat. Bank, Seattle, Wash.
Rev. H. R. Miles. — 445 Orange St., New Haven, Conn.
S. R. Miner. — 130 S. Franklin St., Wilkes Barre, Penn.
Rev. William Mitchell.—121 Franklin St., Allston.
C. De V. Musaus.—1416 California St., San Francisco, Cal.
William Nelson.—Nashville, Tenn.
W. K. Norton.— Milton, N. H.

Rev. P. J. O'Callaghan. — 415 W. 59th St., New York, N. Y.
R. L. Overton. — 58 Forest Ave., Atlanta, Ga.
Rev. Herman Page.—Fall River.
R. T. Paine, Jr.—6 Joy St., Boston.
B. W. Palmer.—24 Marlborough St., Boston.
F. D. Peale. — 104 W. 45th St., New York, N. Y.
Dr. E. A. Pease. — 125 Pinckney St., Boston.
Henry Pennypacker. — Boston Latin School, Boston.
Dr. V. M. Pierce.—663 Maine St., Buffalo, N. Y.
Edmund Platt. —" Eagle " Office, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.
Frederic Plummer.—Woodland Ave., Auburndale.
H. M. Plummer.—New Bedford.
H. T. Pope.—Fort Payne, Ala.
Dr. C. A. Porter.—128 Marlborough St., Boston.
E. B. Pratt.—Hingham Centre.
Dr. H. A. Pulsford.—South Orange, N. J.
G. R. Pulsifer.—404 Exchange Building, Boston.
W. H. Rand.—12 W. 10th St., or 22 William St., New York, N. Y.
A. W. Rantoul. — Beverly.
J. E. Reynolds. — The Terrace, Meadville, Penn.
G. J. Richards. — Weymouth.
C. B. Rogers. — 291 Genesee St., Utica, N. Y.
William Ropes.— Manhattan Safe Deposit Co., 346 Broadway, New York, N. Y.
Henry W. Sampson.
E. H. Savary. — 14 State St., Boston.
J. A. Saxe. — 732 Exchange Building, Boston.
J. W. Saxe. — 732 Exchange Building, Boston.
B. T. Schermerhorn. — Dedham.
J. H. Sedgwick. — D. L. & W. Building, 26 Exchange Place, New York, N. Y.
T. T. Seelye.
John Merwine Seip.
Rev. Charles T. Sempers. — East Side House, 76th St., East River N. Y.
J. M. Shahan. — Stafford Springs, Conn.
H. T. Shepard. — Black Diamond, King Co., Wash.

Dr. T. O. Shepard. — Salem.
A. T. Simpkins. — 3820 Washington Ave., St. Louis, Mo.
Chauncey Smith, Jr. — 121 Brattle St., Cambridge.
Eugene Sondheim. — 44 Broad St., New York, N. Y.
E. W. Spalding. — Cambridge.
W. S. Spaulding. — 99 Beacon St., Boston.
F. D. Stetson. — New Bedford.
Dr. E. C. Stowell. — 4 Linwood Sq.. Roxbury.
Lynde Sullivan. — 129 Mt. Vernon St., Boston.
W. L. Sumrall. — Danville, Ky.
Harold Swain. — Indianapolis, Ind.
S. L. Swarts. — 218 Main St., Cincinnati, O.
Dr. E. W. Taylor. — 122 Marlborough St., Boston.
E. R. Thayer. — 5 Phillips Place, Cambridge, and 220 Devonshire St., Boston.
L. S. Thayer. — 125 Marlborough St., Boston.
W. G. Thompson. — 62 Buckingham St., Cambridge, and 19 Congress St., Boston.
Dr. H. P. Towle. — 373 Boylston St., Boston.
E. W. Trull. — Tewksbury.
R. H. Van Deman. — Care of Miami Med. College, Cincinnati, O.
John W. H. Walden. — Harvard University, Cambridge.
Ervin Wardman. — Care of New York Tribune, New York, N. Y.
H. S. Wardner. — Office U. S. Attorney, P. O. Building, New York, N. Y.
E. R. Warren. — 80 Washington Sq., E., New York, N. Y.
Dr. F. H. Whipple. — 363 Boylston St., Boston.
W. M. Willett. — 207- 209 Federal St., Boston.
Frank Backus Williams. — 26 Pratt St., Hartford, Conn.
Frank Beverly Williams. — Thayer 29, Cambridge.
J. W. Wood, Jr. — South Orange, N. J.
F. C. Woodman. — 15 E. 16th St., New York, N. Y.
W. M. Woodworth. — 147 Brattle St., Cambridge.
J. F. Workum. — Care of Simpson, Thatcher & Barnum, 10 Wall St., New York, N. Y.
F. B. Wiley. — 15 Sumner St., Cambridge.